TV to get excited about!

Welcome to this week's bumper issue of TV&Streaming Week, kicking off an unmissable summer of sport. Inside, we have 32 pages of World Cup coverage, compiled by Deputy Editor Richard McClure and his brilliant team.

Co-hosted by the USA, Mexico and Canada, the action begins this Thursday 11 June, with 48 teams taking part and 104 fixtures.

Following the opening ceremony on ITV1, Mexico play South Africa in Mexico City's Estadio Azteca. The 87,000-capacity stadium has seen two World Cup finals, in 1970 and 1986, and was the venue for Maradona's infamous Hand of God goal. Will Mexico begin their 2026 campaign with a victory?

Medicine man

Doc Martin gets an American reboot as Josh Charles plays a grumpy New England medic

NEW DRAMA

Best Medicine

Tuesday, 8pm & 9pm, Sky One

Charles with Josh Segarra

American producers seem to delight in remaking British shows like The Office, The Inbetweeners and Ghosts for Stateside audiences. And now it's the turn of the much-loved Martin Clunes comedy drama Doc Martin to get a US reboot.

Sky One's 13-episode series Best Medicine stars The Good Wife's Josh Charles as brilliant-but-brusque Dr Martin Best, who, repulsed by the sight of blood, quits his high-flying job as a heart surgeon in Boston to become a reluctant GP in Port Wenn, a quaint fishing village in Maine on America's New England coast.

But, like Doc Martin's Dr Martin Ellingham, Martin's rather gruff and grumpy bedside manner quickly irritates the locals, including schoolteacher Louisa Gavin (Abigail Spencer), town sheriff Mark Mylow (Josh Segarra) and wannabe YouTuber receptionist Elaine Denton (Cree).

> 'Martin's a bit awkward, not just socially but also physically'
> JOSH CHARLES

'I wasn't aware of the original British show, but when this series came along I started watching Doc Martin and I was completely charmed,' says Charles, who started his career as a teenager in films including 1989's Dead Poets Society.

'We all agreed that if we were going to remake the original, we would take everything that we could from it, but we'd also have to Americanise it,' he adds. 'I mean, a doctor in America is very different to a doctor in Britain. And because so many people love the original, I also didn't want to feel any pressure. I wanted to put our own stamp on it.'

The first episode begins with Martin's move to his new private practice, as he meets the quirky Port Wenn locals, deals with a male patient with gynaecomastia (enlarged breasts), and faints when he's asked to help out with a child's scraped and bloodied knee.

FISH OUT OF WATER

Although Best Medicine is clearly geared to American audiences, some things will remain familiar to British viewers. Just like the original, which ran on ITV1 for 18 years, there are plenty of bizarre ailments, a mischievous dog that becomes Martin's unwitting companion, a brewing romance with teacher Louisa, and plenty of comedy at the expense of Martin's social ineptitude and awkward phobia of blood.

'Martin's actions and words drive and create a lot of the conflict, which leads to the comedy,' explains Charles. 'He's a bit awkward, not just socially but also physically, so there's a lot of banging into things and falling and tripping.

'I love all that, it's a lot of fun to do – just be a giant ass, basically. Martin Clunes did quite a bit of that in the British series, so I wanted to keep as much of it as we could.

'But at his core I think Martin is incredibly lonely. Now he's back in this little town where he used to spend time as a kid, he wants to connect and interact with people, but he doesn't know how to. He doesn't really have that set of skills, so it's a lot of three steps forward and one step back with him.'

WORDS: HANNAH DAVIES. PHOTOS: SKY

Josh Charles as Dr Martin Best

Unlike his recent appearances in darker series The Veil and The Handmaid's Tale, Charles hopes his new light-hearted show will be something the whole family can enjoy together.

'I'd love that,' he says. 'You know, the older I get, the more excited I am about that. It's nice to make something that's entertaining and that the whole family can sit down and watch together and appreciate.'

Clunes in Best Medicine

DAD MARTIN

There's an extra treat for fans of Doc Martin later in the series with the appearance of Martin Clunes, who pops up in episode nine as Martin's estranged father, cantankerous gastroenterologist Dr Robert Best.

'We all laughed about it because Martin's not really old enough to play my dad but somehow it works,' says Josh Charles, 54, of his 64-year-old co-star. 'He was honestly amazing. He was so great and so gracious.

'Everybody was thrilled to have him on the show, but he was also tickled to be there. Originally, he was offered a much smaller role, but he was like, "No, if I'm going to do it, I want to do something a little meatier." In the end, we had a lot of scenes together and we hit it off. He was charming, funny and an absolute gentleman.'

Nicola Walker and Jemaine Clement play friends who become foes in a revenge comedy

NEW COMEDY

Alice and Steve

From Monday 8 June, Disney+

The long-term friendship between two 50-something pals is torn apart when one begins dating the other's 26-year-old daughter in Disney+'s comedy Alice and Steve.

The six-part series stars Nicola Walker as party-loving fashion designer Alice, whose bond with wryly witty New Zealand hair stylist Steve (Jemaine Clement) has been a cornerstone of her life for decades.

'Steve and Alice went out with each other a long time ago but their friendship has moved way beyond that,' explains Unforgotten star Walker, 56, when TV&Streaming Week joins her on set during a break in filming at a South London studio.

'He knows all Alice's secrets and she knows his, and he links back to the time when they were young and free.'

But after a drunken night out with Alice following a pal's funeral, divorced Steve comes home with her and has a heart-to-heart with her 26-year-old daughter Izzy (A Good Girl's Guide to Murder's Yali Topol Margalith), who has broken up with her boyfriend. One thing leads to another and Steve and Izzy sleep together. Despite their surprise at this development, the pair realise they have feelings for each other.

'Every character feels human, and you both relate to them and judge them. It makes you think,' says Margalith, 26. 'Steve and Izzy find each other and it's beautiful to see. Izzy has been dating men in their 20s and it has not been a success but she feels seen by Steve and she also sees him with all his wonderful, weird ways and he makes her laugh.'

As Clement, 52, joins us, he admits that Steve and Izzy's burgeoning relationship is problematic.

CROSSING A LINE

'They're both lonely and Steve feels guilty but he's connecting with someone for the first time in a while and he can't resist. The messiness of it feels real, though. And the situation is ripe for conflict.'

All hell does indeed break loose when an outraged Alice learns the truth and embarks on a single-minded mission to separate the couple and ruin Steve's life. But both Alice and Steve's actions soon impact on the rest of Alice's family, including her husband Daniel (Joel Fry), son Dom (Tyrese Eaton-Dyce) and mum Val (Marcia Warren).

'Alice sets out to destroy Steve and it becomes bigger and bigger,' reveals Clement, best known for Flight of the Conchords. 'And because they know each other so well, they have a lot of ammunition when they fall apart.'

'Yes, Alice doesn't react well!' adds Walker. 'It feels like a huge betrayal and her world has fallen apart. Battle lines are drawn, and because of her reaction, she's in danger of losing Steve and her daughter, and she implodes her marriage. I hope viewers will switch between who they think is in the wrong. Alice, Steve and Izzy all take turns to believe that they're on the moral high ground and in control but they're not.'

Despite the tension between their characters, Clement and Walker have relished the chance to work together.

LOVE AND HATE

'Nicola's great,' says Clement. 'She's natural, fast and funny. We shoot out of order, so sometimes Alice has to hate Steve and sometimes she loves him. I can always tell where we are before we do the scene, though, by the way Nicola's looking at me!'

The admiration is mutual.

'I'm a fan of Jemaine's and I was really bad in one take and was mortified,' smiles Walker. 'But he roared with laughter, and was kind. And our first week of filming was us drunk and singing karaoke, so we felt like we'd been friends for ages.'

Paula Wilcox plays Linda

Mum's the word

Could Amanda's mother hold the key to her daughter's mystery inheritance?

LAST ONE DRAMA
The Fortune
Tuesday & Wednesday, 9pm, 5

More shattering family secrets come to light as 5's four-part psychological thriller The Fortune concludes this week.

Poldark's Eleanor Tomlinson stars as cafe worker Amanda Blakefield who unexpectedly inherits a vast fortune from a complete stranger, Martin Worrall (Denis Lawson). Someone who might be able to shed light on Amanda's connection to her deceased benefactor is her mother, Linda, played by Upstart Crow's Paula Wilcox. However, Linda has dementia.

FACT OR FICTION?

'Linda is unknowingly a very powerful person in this story,' explains Wilcox, 76, who starred in the 1970s sitcom Man About the House. 'She has been keeping something very big from Amanda to protect her. Because of her dementia, Linda is constantly dipping in and out of reality. You don't know when she's talking sense and when it is total rot, which all adds to the mystery!'

Sadly, Wilcox was able to draw on personal experience when it came to playing a character with dementia.

'My mum, who died in 2010, had dementia so I didn't need to do any research into what it was like. I'd lived through it,' she says.

On a happier note, Wilcox promises that the final episodes of The Fortune will deliver some major twists.

EYE OF THE STORM

'The reason I took this role is because right from the start the scripts had me completely intrigued. I read them like a thriller, turning page after page wanting to know more,' says the actor who was delighted to film in and around Hartlepool in County Durham.

'I loved film-making in the North East because it's an area I didn't know very well,' she explains. 'One of my favourite scenes is in the final episode where we shot inside a fisherman's hut. It's a very intimate and quiet scene and at the time Storm Amy was raging outside. It was very atmospheric and there was something magical about it.'

TIGER territory

Cameras get up close with Nepal's big cats on a remarkable island

Bengal tigers are notoriously solitary animals, and usually live in large areas allowing them to roam and hunt in territories of around 100 square kilometres.

However, that's not the case in western Nepal's Bardiya National Park where a group of tigers, including mothers with cubs, live on a densely forested river island of just four square kilometres.

Dubbed Tiger Island, the remarkable setting gives conservationists the perfect opportunity to get close to the Bengals, and in this two-part documentary, a team of film-makers, rangers and scientists use state-of-the art technology – including drones and thermal-imaging cameras – to follow the island's big cats around the clock.

'This is a totally new world because we were able to watch the tigers uninterrupted for such a long period of time and see them in a way that no scientist has ever been able to observe before,' says wildlife biologist Dan O'Neill. 'It's a total gold mine.'

Mala and her three cubs

GUARDIANS

The series focuses on two tiger mothers: experienced nine-year-old mum Goma, who is raising two cubs, and her four-year-old daughter Mala, who is now a first-time mother to three newborns.

Viewers see first-hand the challenges of raising young on an island fraught with danger – not least from adult male tigers, who will kill the offspring of their rivals, while rhinos and elephants also pose a threat.

And as the team got closer than ever before to wild tigers, they often found themselves within a few feet of the apex predators.

'One day I was looking at my drone monitor and watching Goma as she was walking along – and then I realised that she was right beside me,' recalls film-maker Anna Dimitriadis. 'The blood drained from my body. I locked eyes with her, but in that moment, I saw how much tigers actually want to avoid you. She turned away and walked in the opposite direction.'

Capturing footage at night

Cameras followed the big cats day and night and captured groundbreaking footage, including tigers sharing food and the area's resident male, Bandheil, enjoying intimate moments with his family.

CAT COMMUNITY

'The tiger is probably the most iconic animal on the planet,' says film-maker Max Hug Williams. 'I don't know whether it's the fact these tigers live so closely with humans and are living on top of each other, but the fact that tigers are actually very social cats is just mind-blowing.'

DID YOU KNOW?

- Bengal tigers are the world's second-largest tigers, behind the Siberian tiger. Males can grow to three metres long and weigh up to 250kg.
- They have the largest canine teeth of any living cat – around 10cm in length. They also have retractable claws which allow them to climb trees.
- Females usually have a pregnancy of three to four months, and cubs stay with their mother for several years.
- It is estimated that there are fewer than 4,000 left in the wild, with a life expectancy of around 10 to 15 years.
- Human deaths from tigers are not uncommon. Most attacks happen when people are alone, bending down and making noise, as tigers then mistake them for prey.

A drunken Charity confronts Todd

EMMERDALE

Shock! Charity is assaulted

» Charity is on the verge of breaking point after failing to get her hands on £100k hush money for Dr Todd, so she won't out the secret that Charity and Ross are really baby Leyla's biological parents.

But it looks like the landlady's life is about to come crashing down when the medic promises to announce the devastating truth at Sarah's 21st birthday unless she hands over the full amount.

Charity hits the bottle to drown her guilt and drunkenly dares the 'retired' doc to go ahead and expose the secret. However, Todd's cruel streak seemingly subsides when she backs down on her blackmail, unable to publicly destroy the young mum's life. As Todd admits she's enjoying the chaos of Charity's life unfold, the enemies agree to a truce, and Todd implies that her secret is safe.

Todd is malicious

But Charity's relief is short-lived when Todd's twisted behaviour takes a darker turn and the gran is later subjected to an assault. Will Charity speak out about the shocking attack?

» PLUS Lydia confronts Sam over his supposed affair with Laurel, Ross is upset when Laurel decides to put an end to their fling, and Gabby heads down a dark route with her healthy-eating obsession.

Lost legends

David Baddiel hosts a special broadcast of the 1966 World Cup final to raise awareness of dementia

Martin Peters (right) heads the ball

Jack and Bobby Charlton

NEW FACTUAL

The 1966 World Cup Final – In Colour

Saturday, 4.45pm, C4

Sixty years after England beat West Germany 4-2 at Wembley Stadium to win the 1966 World Cup, David Baddiel is hosting a new screening of the historic match, in full and in colour, to raise awareness around dementia.

The broadcast is designed to raise money for Alzheimer's Society, and features hat-trick hero Sir Geoff Hurst, 84, the only surviving member of the team, who shares his sadness that five of his teammates – Bobby Charlton, his brother Jack Charlton, Nobby Stiles, Martin Peters and Ray Wilson – suffered from dementia. For footballers, the condition has been linked to brain damage caused by repeated heading of the ball.

England internationals including former Liverpool striker Michael Owen, Arsenal stars Beth Mead and Alessia Russo, and Bayern Munich's Georgia Stanway also lend their support.

Here, Baddiel, whose song Three Lions, with Frank Skinner and The Lightning Seeds, has become an England football anthem, tells us why the fundraiser is so important…

> 'It's a glorious victory and it was brilliant that we won'
> DAVID BADDIEL

Why did you want to be involved in this project? My dad had Alzheimer's. He was Welsh and I remember in 2016, when Wales did really well in the Euros, he was really excited and engaged. Some things can trigger a person with dementia to become themselves again and I found that with football.

What was it like to have Sir Geoff Hurst on board? Geoff is an amazing man. He's incredibly sweet. It's a big deal for him that he's the only one left from the squad and that five of them had dementia.

You were only two in 1966, but did you grow up knowing the legend of England's win? Yes. I think that 1966 is a strange thing in a way. It's a glorious victory and it was brilliant that we won. But then it hangs over all our failures since.

What is your first World Cup memory? I totally remember 1970 in Mexico. I can't remember whether we had a colour telly, because we had a black-and-white one for ages, but in my mind I've got images of 1970 in that saturated colour with the sound of commentator David Coleman with that tinny voice because it was like he was speaking through a can. It's very evocative of a whole other time.

LOOK WHO'S BACK...

A familiar face appearing in a new show this week

Rob Lowe

NEW The Floor USA

Monday-Friday, 7pm, ITV2

1985

Born in Virginia in 1964, Rob Lowe became a Hollywood heart-throb with roles in Brat Pack movies such as Oxford Blues and St Elmo's Fire. On TV, he is best known for playing White House spin doctor Sam Seaborn in The West Wing, politician Robert McCallister in Brothers & Sisters, and optimistic boss Chris Traeger in Parks and Recreation. More recent small-screen credits include Code Black, 9-1-1: Lone Star and Unstable.

HIS NEW APPEARANCE

This week, Lowe hosts the US version of fast-paced Dutch game show The Floor, which sees 81 contestants battle it out on a giant grid of squares, claiming territory as they go head-to-head in trivia challenges to win $250,000. 'I am excited to be host because it's all about trivia, which I love. I love games like this, and this is the best iteration I've ever seen,' says Lowe. 'It's a show that allows me to ad lib, hopefully be funny, and connect with people against the backdrop of money that changes their lives.'

Reece and the gang return to Allsbrooke for a new series

Liver boys

NEW COMEDY

G'wed

Monday, 10.35pm, ITV2 (box set, ITVX)

Reece and the crew are back for a third season of Liverpool-set comedy G'wed – and although the pupils at Allsbrooke secondary school are another year older, there's no sign of things getting any calmer.

'There's a lot going on in this series,' teases Dylan Thomas-Smith, who plays Reece. 'There's growth among some of the characters, there are some new friendships which ruffle a few feathers, and even some love. It's our best series by a mile.'

CLOSE CALL

Returning cast members include Jake Kenny-Byrne as posh boy Chris, and Max Ainsworth as dopey Connor, while former Brookside star Jennifer Ellison appears in episode three as Aimee's (Amber Harrison) estranged mum Anna.

John Barnes guest stars

Another Scouse legend who also makes an appearance is former Liverpool FC and England star John Barnes, who has a cameo in the first episode.

'John and I had a really exciting day on set. Our scene was hilarious,' says Thomas-Smith, 21. 'Jennifer is lovely too. She fitted right into the family as soon as she came on set and her character Anna definitely has a big effect on Aimee and her dad

Leo and Clive clash

Breaking point

Tip Toe reaches a shocking conclusion

LAST ONE DRAMA

Tip Toe

Sunday-Tuesday, 9pm, C4

The bitter feud between neighbours Leo and Clive escalates into violence as Tip Toe concludes this week, beginning with an episode that revisits the events of the series so far from Clive's perspective.

Life within the Goss house is tense as Clive (David Morrissey) and Marie (Pooky Quesnel) struggle to earn enough to keep a roof over their heads, and Clive's previous infidelity casts a shadow over their relationship. As the couple find themselves home alone one Friday night while their sons are out, Marie comes to a decision about their future together.

'Marie is preoccupied with the

Kenny-Byrne and Thomas-Smith as Chris and Reece

Wayne [John McGrellis].'

Aimee isn't the only one having to deal with the return of an absent parent. Reece's estranged father 'Disneyland Darren' (Ben Batt) has now decided to play a more active role in his son's life and is willing to fight off any competitors, including Mr Dunn (Philip McGuinness) who is wooing Reece's mum Jodie (Leanne Best).

MOOD SHIFT

'Reece is starting to get a bit weirded out. He's not sure what's going on and he feels like everything is changing – and he doesn't like change,' says Thomas-Smith.

Last year, the actor was nominated for a BAFTA for playing loveable rogue Reece and as the show gains more and more fans, he increasingly finds himself getting recognised in the street.

'I went to New Zealand and after 27 hours of travelling we went straight to the pub. As soon as I walked in, someone said to me, "You play Reece, don't you?"' he recalls. 'I was on the other side of the world and it was mad.'

state of her marriage,' says Moonflower Murders star Quesnel. 'Then everything starts to unravel and it all slips out of her control. She's too busy earning a living, holding it all together and dealing with Clive's depression to pick into anything else.'

FACE-OFF

Things come to a head when Leo (Alan Cumming) and Clive make an unexpected discovery in Leo's house, putting the two neighbours on a collision course and forcing everyone else to take sides. Although Marie is critical of Clive's actions, she's determined to protect her own family, even if it means going on the attack against Leo.

Pooky Quesnel as Marie

'She probably liked Leo's ex, Curtis, more than she likes Leo – she found him less challenging,' admits Quesnel, 60. 'When Leo and Curtis first moved in, there was a bit of curiosity and then they all got on with their lives.'

There are some confronting moments in store as the series reaches its explosive conclusion, and Quesnel hopes viewers will be encouraged to reflect on the societal divisions that it portrays.

'Tip Toe is a proper drama that does what drama should do,' she says. 'I think people will talk about it, maybe even have arguments about it in the pub, because they will see the layers and the truthfulness of the characters.'

Kevin Bridges: In Search of the Beautiful Game

NEW

Sun, 10.30pm, BBC1

As the World Cup kicks off, Scottish football fan and comedian Kevin Bridges travels to locations around the world, such as Brazil, Scotland and the USA, to meet supporters and players like Brazil's Cafu (left, with Bridges) to understand the role the game plays in people's lives and to find out if the meaning of the sport has evolved over time.

Mock the Week

NEW

Sunday, 9pm, TLC

Dara Ó Briain (right) returns to host five summer specials of the satirical panel show where the topics are likely to include the World Cup and the current state of politics. During the series, Ó Briain and regular panellist Rhys James will be joined by a host of comedy guest stars including Hugh Dennis, Maisie Adam, Ed Gamble, Ahir Shah and Sara Pascoe. Expect the usual rounds – plus some surprises.

Later... with Jools Holland

Sunday, 10pm, BBC2

This week, Holland is joined by Ellie Goulding (right), who made her TV debut on the show in 2009, as she performs songs from her upcoming album. Duran Duran's Simon Le Bon drops in to London's Alexandra Palace Theatre to chat about the band's new single, and jazz icon Courtney Pine performs a Duke Ellington standard with the host.

Argentina's Lionel Messi in 2022

WORLD CUP 2026 32-PAGE SPECIAL!

The USA, Canada and Mexico host the biggest World Cup in history...

Three host countries, more nations and matches than ever before, and legends Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo bowing out from the world stage... The 2026 World Cup promises to be an unmissable feast of football with two billion viewers tuning in to a record 104 games played over 39 days.

For the first time, 48 teams will compete for the trophy (up from 32 in 2022), across spectacular venues in the USA, Mexico and Canada in the biggest tournament ever held. And there's plenty of interest for home fans, too, with England aiming to repeat their famous triumph of 1966 and Scotland facing the five-time winners Brazil as they return to the World Cup for the first time in 28 years.

The action kicks off on Thursday 11 June as co-hosts Mexico take on South Africa in Mexico City and culminates on Sunday 19 July when the new world champions will be crowned at the New York New Jersey Stadium.

Here at TV&Streaming Week, we've got everything covered with our ultimate guide to the World Cup 2026, including a pull-out-and-keep wallchart to fill in, complete with fixtures, dates and times to ensure you never miss a kick – from the opening game to the showpiece final.

There's also a group-by-group guide to all 48 nations, profiles of the England and Scotland squads, our pick of legends and newcomers, a how-to-watch TV guide featuring the BBC and ITV teams, a special quiz to test your World Cup knowledge, plus interviews with ex-England star Gary Lineker and Scotland legend Ally McCoist.

So sit back, grab the remote and settle in for a summer of fabulous football...

Welcome to

Twenty-six facts about the 2026 tournament in our essential A-Z guide

A is for AZTECA... Thursday's opening match between Mexico and South Africa takes place at the famous Mexico City stadium, which sits over 2,200m above sea level, making it the highest stadium in the tournament. It will be 16 years to the day since the same teams opened the 2010 World Cup, playing a 1-1 draw in Johannesburg. Turn to page 24 for our stadium guide…

B is for BASE CAMPS... England will be stationed at a training facility in Kansas City, Missouri, while Scotland are taking up residence in Charlotte, North Carolina.

C is for CAMERAS... For the first time at a World Cup, referees will wear body cams to give television viewers an on-pitch perspective of the action.

D is for DOSH... A record $655m in prize money will be distributed between the 48 nations. The winners will receive a $50m payout and the runners-up get $33m.

E is for EXPENSIVE... The high price of tickets and transport has been heavily criticised by fan groups. The best seats at the final cost a hefty £8,333 (before resale), making it the most expensive football match of all time.

F is for FAN ZONES... All 16 host cities will be putting on entertainment and activities in fan villages. In New York City, the fan zone at the Rockefeller Center will see the famous skating rink turned into a fake football pitch surrounded by giant screens.

G is for GROUP OF DEATH... There's one at every World Cup and this time it looks likely to be Group I, which features 2022 finalists France, AFCON runners-up Senegal, a resurgent Norway and a resilient Iraq.

H is for HALF-TIME SHOW... The final will feature a Super Bowl-style 11-minute show for the first time, curated by Coldplay frontman Chris Martin and featuring Shakira, Madonna, K-pop stars BTS and the Muppets.

Madonna and Muppets Miss Piggy and Kermit

I is for IRAN... There has been a doubt over Iran's participation because of the country's war with America. As we went to press, the nation looked set to compete – and will face the USA if both teams finish second in their groups.

J is for JORDAN... The Middle East country is making its World Cup debut along with Cape Verde, Curaçao and Uzbekistan. Meanwhile, having

the World Cup

competed as Zaire in 1974, the Democratic Republic of Congo (renamed in 1997) is back for a second appearance.

K is for KICK-OFF TIMES... With matches taking place across four time zones, there will be 13 different kick-off times. Almost half the group games get under way between midnight and 5am UK time.

L is for LIMITED EDITION... The Bank of Scotland has printed 100 special £20 notes featuring Scott McTominay's overhead kick for Scotland against Denmark as Steve Clarke's side qualified for the finals. The notes are being auctioned for charity.

M is for MUSIC... There will be three opening ceremonies, one in each host nation, with performances from Alanis Morissette, Michael Bublé, Katy Perry and more.

N is for NORTH AMERICA... This is the fourth time the continent has staged the World Cup after Mexico in 1970 and 1986, and the USA in 1994. Turn to page 42 for our nostalgic look back…

O is for ONE THOUSAND... The Group F game between Tunisia and Japan in Monterrey on Saturday 20 June will be the 1,000th match at the World Cup finals.

Adidas' dog-friendly kits

P is for PETS... If your dog wants to join in the action, Adidas has released a selection of World Cup kits for four-legged fans, including Argentina and Mexico jerseys.

Q is for QUARTER-FINALS... Although there are three co-hosts, all matches from the last eight onwards will be staged in the United States.

R is for REFEREES... The Premier League's Michael Oliver and Anthony Taylor are in the 52-strong referee team, which also includes two women – American Tori Penso and Mexican Katia Itzel García.

S is for SPORRANS... Only certain types of bags are allowed into stadiums, but officials have given Scotland's Tartan Army special permission to wear their traditional kilt purses when attending games.

T is for TRIONDA... The official match ball is the Adidas Trionda, which means 'three waves' in Spanish. It has connected technology and red, green and blue sections to represent each host nation.

U is for UNIFORMS... Around 65,000 volunteers (selected from one million applicants) will be kitted out in vibrant uniforms featuring a heart-shaped pattern to 'recognise the volunteers as the heartbeat of the tournament'.

V is for VAR... In a new move, video assistant referees will also rule on corners that are incorrectly given, plus wrongly awarded second yellow cards, and cases of mistaken identity.

W is for WATER BREAK... Every game will have a three-minute hydration break after 22 minutes of each half to help 'prioritise player welfare'.

X is for EXTREME WEATHER... Experts have warned that high temperatures, humidity, lightning and even wildfires could be a threat to match schedules. At the 2025 Club World Cup, also held in the USA, several games were disrupted and delayed by thunderstorms.

Y is for YELLOW CARDS... For the first time, all yellow cards will be wiped at the end of the group stage. A second amnesty will take place after the quarter-finals, ensuring that players are not suspended for the semi-finals unless they receive a red.

England's Harry Kane takes on some fluids

Z is for ZAYU... Three host nations means there are three mascots – Zayu the Jaguar represents Mexico, while Maple the Moose is Canada's official emblem, and Clutch the Bald Eagle is the American mascot.

The TV teams

Meet the ITV and BBC squads bringing the action to our screens throughout the tournament...

ITV

Broadcasting from a studio overlooking the New York skyline, ITV's coverage is hosted by Mark Pougatch, Laura Woods and Semra Hunter. They will be joined by pundits including Gary Neville, Ian Wright, Karen Carney, Roy Keane, Emma Hayes and former Celtic and Spurs coach Ange Postecoglou. Lee Dixon, Ally McCoist, Andros Townsend and Lucy Ward will be on co-commentary duties.

ITV kicks off with the opening match between co-hosts Mexico and South Africa in Group A on Thursday 11 June (8pm). The channel will also screen England's opening Group L match against Croatia (Wed 17 June, 9pm), the Three Lions' final group match against Panama (Sat 27 June, 10pm), and Scotland's Group C match versus Morocco (Fri 19 June, 11pm).

The teen sensations set to grace the World Cup stage – and the superstar legends taking their leave...

THE ROOKIES

LAMINE YAMAL (Spain)
The Barcelona youngster set Euro 2024 alight as Spain claimed the title. Still only 18, he is making his World Cup debut after leading Barca to the La Liga title.

YAN DIOMANDE (Ivory Coast)
The pace and dribbling skills of this 19-year-old wideman has attracted the attention of Premier League clubs after a superb season with Bundesliga outfit RB Leipzig.

GILBERTO MORA (Mexico)
Now aged 17, the midfield prodigy became the youngest player to lift a major international trophy when he helped Mexico win the Gold Cup last summer.

BBC

Based in Salford, the BBC team is led by Gabby Logan, Mark Chapman, Kelly Cates and Alex Scott, and features analysis from the likes of Wayne Rooney, Steph Houghton, Joe Hart, Alan Shearer, Ellen White, French striker and World Cup winner Olivier Giroud, and former Brentford and Spurs boss Thomas Frank.

The BBC will show Scotland's first World Cup match for 28 years when they play Haiti in Group C (Sat 13 June, 2am) and also the nation's mouth-watering clash with Brazil (Wed 24 June, 11pm). It will also broadcast England's second Group L match against Ghana (Tue 23 June, 9pm), and begins its coverage on Friday 12 June when co-hosts Canada take on Bosnia and Herzegovina in Group B (8pm).

MEANWHILE, ON NETFLIX...

The Rest Is Football podcast comes to the streaming platform as a daily TV show throughout the tournament. Hosted by Micah Richards, Gary Lineker and Alan Shearer (all pictured) from New York, the show will feature game analysis, special guests, all the latest news, interviews and reports from the England and Scotland camps.

'We'll be having a lot of fun in our studio overlooking Times Square with a worldwide audience,' says Lineker. 'The show goes out every day, early morning, and I'm very excited.'

● FORMAT

With 48 nations taking part (16 more than ever before), teams are split into 12 groups of four, with the top two in each group progressing to the knockout stage, plus the eight best third-placed teams. Only 16 sides are eliminated in the group stage, but the additional knockout round – the round-of-32 – should ensure plenty of nerve-shredding matches.

NFL legend Tom Brady helped with the draw

● RULES

In a bid to speed up play, officials will enforce a five-second time limit for goal kicks. If the goalkeeper takes too long, the opposition gets a corner. Throw-ins must also be taken within five seconds. If not, the other side gets the throw.

Similarly, substituted players must leave the pitch within 10 seconds. If they take longer, their replacement must wait one minute. Also, players receiving medical treatment must leave the field and wait one minute before returning.

Meanwhile, players will be shown a red card if they cover their mouths during a confrontation, and any player leaving the pitch in protest at a decision will be sent off.

THE VETERANS

LIONEL MESSI (Argentina)
The eight-time Ballon d'Or winner was Argentina's top scorer as they qualified to defend their title. It's a sixth World Cup for the Inter Miami wizard, who turns 39 during the tournament.

CRISTIANO RONALDO (Portugal)
It's a sixth World Cup appearance for the five-time Ballon d'Or winner. Now aged 41, Ronaldo is the all-time leading goalscorer in international football.

LUKA MODRIC (Croatia)
At 40 years old, the AC Milan midfield maestro will take the captain's armband in his fifth tournament after recovering from a fractured cheekbone.

Fields of dreams

From space-age designs and billion-dollar arenas to historic stadiums and stunning locations, here's our guide to all 16 host venues...

Seattle Stadium
Capacity: 65,123
Matches: 6

Home of current Super Bowl champions the Seattle Seahawks, the stadium has a horseshoe-shaped design that gives fantastic views of the city's downtown skyline.

BC Place Vancouver
Capacity: 48,821 Matches: 7

The tournament's most northerly venue staged the Opening and Closing Ceremonies of the 2010 Winter Olympics and the 2015 Women's World Cup final.

Toronto Stadium
Capacity: 44,315 Matches: 6

Canada begin their World Cup campaign at the smallest arena in the tournament, located on the shore of Lake Ontario.

San Francisco Bay Area Stadium
Capacity: 69,391 Matches: 6

The ground of five-time Super Bowl champions the San Francisco 49ers is located in Santa Clara in Silicon Valley and has its own rooftop organic farm.

Los Angeles Stadium
Capacity: 69,650
Matches: 8

At a cost of $5.5 billion, Inglewood's stunning arena is the most expensive ever built and will co-host the opening ceremony at the 2028 Olympics. The USA starts its World Cup campaign against Paraguay in Los Angeles.

Kansas City Stadium
Capacity: 67,513 Matches: 6

Better known as Arrowhead Stadium, the home of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs holds the record for being the loudest stadium in the world.

Dallas Stadium
Capacity: 70,122 Matches: 9

England kick off their group games against Croatia at the NFL's Dallas Cowboys' stomping ground. The futuristic bowl has a giant screen hanging over the pitch and has drawn comparisons with the Death Star in Star Wars.

Estadio Guadalajara
Capacity: 44,330 Matches: 4

Built on an artificial hill and designed to resemble a volcano, the stadium lies at an energy-sapping altitude of more than 1,600 metres.

Estadio Azteca
Capacity: 72,766
Matches: 5

This legendary Mexico City venue will become the first in history to stage matches at three World Cups. It held the final in 1970 and 1986 when it also witnessed Diego Maradona's Hand of God.

New York New Jersey Stadium

Capacity: 78,576
Matches: 8

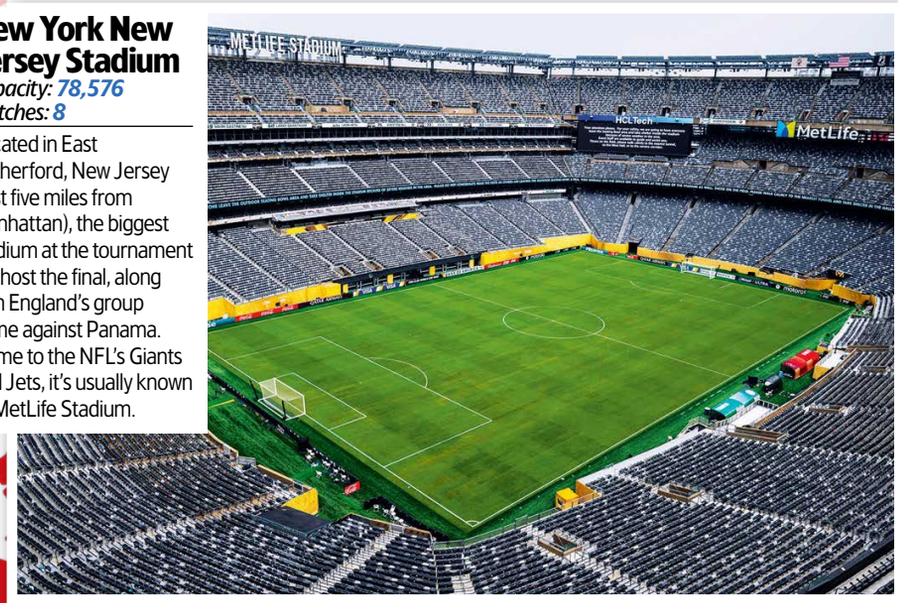
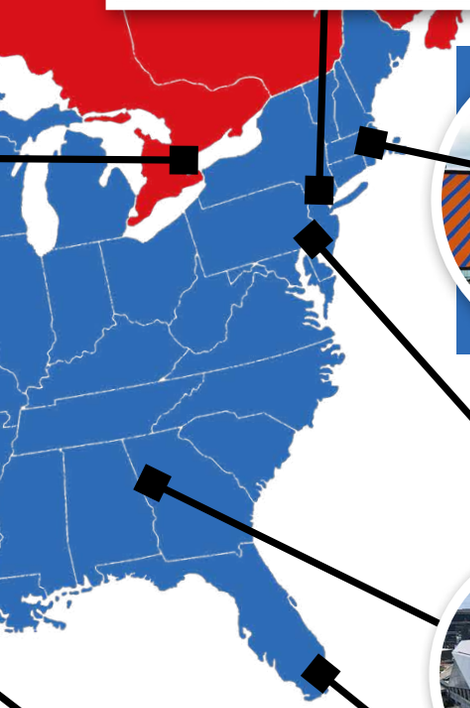
Located in East Rutherford, New Jersey (just five miles from Manhattan), the biggest stadium at the tournament will host the final, along with England's group game against Panama. Home to the NFL's Giants and Jets, it's usually known as MetLife Stadium.





Boston Stadium

Capacity: 63,815 Matches: 7

The Foxborough home of the NFL's New England Patriots features a 'lighthouse' in tribute to the city's maritime history. It will host Scotland's opening group games against Haiti and Morocco and England's match against Ghana.

Philadelphia Stadium

Capacity: 65,827 Matches: 6

Better known as Lincoln Financial Field, the Philadelphia Eagles are the usual occupants of this arena, among the greenest in the NFL with over 10,000 solar panels.

Atlanta Stadium

Capacity: 67,382 Matches: 8

Inspired by the Pantheon in Rome, this dome features a breathtaking design with a retractable oval roof and a 360-degree wrap-around 'halo' video screen.

Houston Stadium

Capacity: 68,311 Matches: 7

Home to the Houston Texans, it features climate control and was the first NFL venue to have a retractable roof.

Miami Stadium

Capacity: 64,091 Matches: 7

Also the site of F1's Miami Grand Prix, the stadium will stage Scotland's group clash with the mighty Brazil. Heat and humidity could be a problem in the open-air arena.

Estadio Monterrey

Capacity: 50,113
Matches: 4

Overlooked by the towering peak of Cerro de la Silla, the arena staged England's group games in 1986 and could see the hottest temperatures at the tournament.

Forever England

Former England striker Gary Lineker believes the Three Lions can end 60 years of hurt

Gary Lineker played in two World Cups, winning the Mexico 86 Golden Boot and reaching the semi-finals at Italia 90. We asked the legend how he thinks Thomas Tuchel's men will fare this time round…

Gary Lineker

England are in Group L with Croatia, Panama and Ghana. How do you expect them to do? Unless you have a complete meltdown, it will be very difficult not to progress from the group stage. It's hard to envisage England not getting three points, even if it's just from beating Panama, but we have a tough opening game against Croatia, who are wily and experienced.

Do you think England can win it? I was only five when we won the World Cup in 1966 so I have zero memory of it. I would love it to happen again, but it will be tough for lots of reasons. It's not impossible, but England are an outside shout.

Which players will be most important? Harry Kane, Jude Bellingham and Marcus Rashford have all been out injured for a bit this season and returned looking strong, which could help us. But with so many matches – the finalists will play eight – the whole squad is going to be important.

Are England better prepared for penalty shoot-outs these days? It's changed dramatically from my day, because we didn't prepare at all. I practised penalties every day, but I was the penalty taker. No one else did! But we're properly prepared now. With an extra knockout round it's likely you'll have a penalty shoot-out at some point.

This is the third time the World Cup will be hosted by Mexico. What are your memories of Mexico 86? We got off to a bad start

Goalkeeper Jordan Pickford brings a wealth of experience to Thomas Tuchel's team

Jordan Pickford

Jordan Pickford made his competitive debut for the Three Lions against Tunisia in England's first group game of the 2018 World Cup and the Everton goalkeeper hasn't looked back since.

'I don't usually get nervous, but that Tunisia game was one of the rare occasions when I felt it,' says Pickford, 32. 'What a feeling it was to walk out for my first World Cup game. This is my third tournament now and I want to win it – I think we have a good opportunity.'

With more than 80 caps to his name, the shot-stopper is one of the most experienced players in the England squad. He still harbours regrets about the team's exit to France in the quarter-finals of the 2022 tournament in Qatar.

that game, but it came down to small moments that didn't go our way,' he says. 'France were reigning champions and knew how to succeed in those moments. We have to learn from them. We have to turn those negative moments into improvements.'

With the North American summer expected to play a big factor, Pickford says preparations are crucial if England are to avoid wilting in the heat.

'To win the tournament you know you're going to face moments of difficulty, so we have to be prepared better than everyone else and hit our peak at the right time,' he says. 'I genuinely think we're one of the best teams – but we must put out the best version of ourselves.'

Celebrating qualification

Tartan heroes

Ex-striker Ally McCoist looks ahead to Scotland's first World Cup since 1998

Nearly 30 years after their last appearance, Scotland have once more made it to the World Cup finals, having secured automatic qualification in style with a 4-2 win over Denmark in November.

For former Scotland international and ITV pundit Ally McCoist, who earned 61 caps and scored 19 goals for his country between 1986 and 1998, the long wait has only made the anticipation even greater.

'What am I most looking forward to about the 2026 World Cup? It's got to be Scotland,' says the 63-year-old, who played at the 1990 tournament, featuring in all three group games against Costa Rica, Sweden and Brazil. 'It's going to be great to see Scotland in a World Cup for the first time in 20-plus years – what a moment for the players and the fans.'

Ally McCoist

HIGH QUALITY

An expanded format means the eight best third-placed teams can progress to a new round-of-32, and coach Steve Clarke's side has a decent chance of making footballing history by reaching the knockout stages for the first time. However, since their group includes AFCON champions Morocco and five-time World Cup winners Brazil, the opening fixture against Haiti is absolutely crucial.

'I think we can get out of the group, but we need to win our opening game against Haiti, which I think will be fantastic,' says McCoist. 'And when we play our final group game against Brazil, with a bit of luck they will have won their first two games, so they might ease off a bit. If you win your opening game, you've got a real chance of progressing.'

A long-time supporter of Steve Clarke, who has led Scotland to back-to-back Euros, McCoist thinks that, under his guidance, the side have reached a place where they can play entertaining football.

'Win, lose or draw, we've got

Great Scott

Will the inspirational Scott McTominay light up the world stage?

Sold to Napoli for a fee of just £25.7million in August 2024, former Manchester United player Scott McTominay quickly established himself as a fan favourite at the Italian club, helping them to a Serie A title in his first season and being named the league's Most Valuable Player.

Meanwhile, the 29-year-old midfielder has also achieved legendary status with the Tartan Army thanks to his exploits in a Scotland shirt, scoring seven goals in qualification for Euro 2024 and, more recently, helping secure qualification for this World Cup with a stunning bicycle kick against Denmark.

PROGRESSION

And McTominay insists that Scotland aren't in North America just to make up the numbers.

'We are getting to the stage when we feel confident against anyone. We know we can play well against the so-called better nations,' he says. 'We want to do our best to get out of our group. The players aren't happy just to have qualified. We want to be better than we were last time [in 1998] and show the world how good we are.'

players that are a great watch,' he says. 'Billy Gilmour, Nathan Patterson, John McGinn – we've got good players. And that's not mentioning Andy Robertson, Scott McTominay and Kieran Tierney, who are playing at a really high level.'

Steve Clarke

McTominay – who recently became the first Scottish player to be nominated for the prestigious Ballon d'Or since Ally McCoist in 1987 – believes coach Steve Clarke is to thank for transforming the team's fortunes in recent years.

'It all comes down to Steve Clarke,' says the star. 'It's about how he holds the dressing room and relays information. After the Denmark match, he didn't say, "We've qualified, lads, get the beers out!" He said we need to reach the same high standard in every single game.'

GROUP A

The South Africa team in March

SOUTH AFRICA

This is the first appearance in the finals for Bafana Bafana since they hosted in 2010, when they beat France and drew with Mexico but failed to get out of their group. They'll be targeting a place in the knockout stage at the fourth attempt.

STAR PLAYERS

Burnley striker Lyle Foster averages a goal almost every two games at international level, and is ably supported by Teboho Mokoena, one of the best midfielders in Africa. Wingers Oswin Appollis and Mohau Nkota are exciting new additions to the squad, while veteran goalkeeper (and captain) Ronwen Williams is a penalty-saving specialist.

THE COACH

Appointed in 2021, 74-year-old former Belgium international Hugo Broos led Cameroon to the 2017 AFCON title and announced he will retire after this World Cup.

Tomáš Soucek

CZECH REPUBLIC

Twenty years after they last qualified, the Czech Republic reached this World Cup via the play-offs. After finishing second behind Croatia in their group, they defeated the Republic of Ireland and Denmark – both on penalties.

STAR PLAYERS

West Ham midfielder Tomáš Soucek is a key asset going forward, but more goals are likely to come from Euro 2020 Silver Boot winner Patrik Schick, who has won silverware with Bayer Leverkusen and netted five times during qualification. Wolves defender Ladislav Krejcí, on loan from Girona, captains the side, while Lyon's Pavel Šulc is the playmaker.

THE COACH

A former goalkeeper, Miroslav Koubek took charge for the play-off matches after Ivan Hasek was sacked following an embarrassing defeat to the Faroe Islands in the qualifiers.

Goalkeeper Guillermo Ochoa

MEXICO

Qualifying automatically, Mexico will want to emulate their previous performances as hosts, reaching the quarter-finals in 1970 and 1986. In 2025, they defeated the USA to win back-to-back Gold Cups, while recent warm-up matches have included draws with Portugal and Belgium. They have been knocked out in the last-16 in seven of their past eight appearances.

STAR PLAYERS

Genoa's Johan Vásquez is an outstanding central defender, and teenage prodigy Gilberto Mora could be one of the breakout stars of the tournament. Fulham's Raúl Jiménez is a proven goalscorer and one of Mexico's all-time greatest strikers. The squad also includes veteran goalkeeper Guillermo Ochoa in his sixth World Cup.

THE COACH

Former Mexican international Javier Aguirre is in his third stint as coach, having led his nation to World Cup finals in 2002 and 2010. He has previously managed Egypt and Japan.

South Korea captain Son Heung-min

SOUTH KOREA

After topping their qualifying group, scoring 20 goals and remaining undefeated, it's an 11th successive World Cup for the Taeguk Warriors (only Brazil, Germany, Argentina and Spain have a longer streak). As co-hosts with Japan in 2002, they lost to Germany in the semi-finals.

STAR PLAYERS

Talismanic ex-Spurs striker Son Heung-min, now playing for Los Angeles FC, leads the team into what is expected to be his final major tournament, having featured in three previous World Cups. Other standout players are Bayern Munich defender Kim Min-jae and Paris Saint-Germain midfielder Lee Kang-in.

THE COACH

Former South Korea international Hong Myung-bo began his second stint in charge in 2024 after failing to win a game at the 2014 World Cup in Brazil.

GROUP B

Jonathan David

CANADA

This is the third appearance in the finals for co-hosts Les Rouges, and they will expect to win their first World Cup game in one of the weaker groups. They previously featured in 1986 and 2022, losing all their group games and scoring just twice.

STAR PLAYERS

Bayern Munich defender Alphonso Davies will hope to be fully recovered from an ACL injury. Striker Jonathan David, currently at Juventus, is Canada's all-time top scorer, and Rangers' on-loan defender Derek Cornelius scored in the 1-0 win over Wales in September.

THE COACH

Former USA international Jesse Marsch led Canada to a Copa America semi-final after taking the reins in 2024. He spent 12 months at Leeds United, who dismissed him before the club was relegated to the Championship in 2023.

The Maroons

QATAR

The Maroons will have gained invaluable experience from their debut campaign as hosts four years ago, despite losing all their games. They are the reigning Asian Cup champions, having defeated Jordan in the 2023 final.

STAR PLAYERS

Like most of the squad, Akram Afif plays in the Qatar Stars League and has twice been named Asian Footballer of the Year, most recently in 2023, when he was the top scorer at the Asian Cup with eight goals. Almoez Ali is the nation's all-time top goalscorer and was in the national team that won Asian Cups in 2019 and 2023.

THE COACH

Former Real Madrid and Barcelona goalkeeper Julen Lopetegui was a member of Spain's 1994 World Cup squad and led the nation to the 2018 World Cup. He has also managed Real Madrid, Sevilla, Wolves and West Ham.

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

Nicknamed the Dragons, they broke Welsh hearts when they won on penalties in Cardiff in the play-offs, before going on to eliminate four-time world champions Italy in the same manner to secure their second appearance in the finals. In 2014, Bosnia and Herzegovina failed to progress from a group containing Argentina and Nigeria, winning only one group game 3-1 against Iran.

STAR PLAYERS

Former Manchester City star Edin Džeko, now aged 40 and playing for Schalke 04, is still a force to be reckoned with up front and the country's most capped player. VfB Stuttgart's Ermedin Demirovic and Borussia Mönchengladbach's Haris Tabakovic both have impressive goal-scoring records in the Bundesliga.

THE COACH

Former striker Sergej Barbarez, who earned 47 caps for Bosnia and Herzegovina, has no previous coaching experience and was once a professional poker player.

SWITZERLAND

The last time Switzerland missed out on a World Cup was in 2002, and they cruised through qualification, topping their pool with no losses and just two goals conceded. In that form, they should win Group B.

STAR PLAYERS

Granit Xhaka captains the side and has had an excellent season with Sunderland. Bologna's Remo Freuler and FC Augsburg's Fabian Rieder join him in an impressive midfield line-up, with young talent Johan Manzambi another option. Nottingham Forest winger Dan Ndoye should feature up front.

THE COACH

Former international Murat Yakin took Switzerland to the 2022 World Cup, where they lost 6-1 to Portugal in the round-of-16, and the 2024 Euros, where they defeated defending champions Italy and reached the quarter-finals, losing on penalties to England.

GROUP C

Achraf Hakimi

MOROCCO

The strongly fancied Atlas Lions were belatedly awarded the AFCON trophy following a final in which Senegal players left the pitch in protest at a penalty award. The set-piece specialists won all their qualifiers and sit eighth in the world rankings.

STAR PLAYERS

A strong European contingent includes Paris Saint-Germain right back Achraf Hakimi, Sunderland's Chemsdine Talbi and Fulham's Issa Diop. Manchester United's defender Noussair Mazraoui has had several Champions League campaigns, and can play right back or left back.

THE COACH

Walid Regragui resigned earlier this year having led Morocco to the semi-finals in 2022, and through qualification for this World Cup and to the AFCON final. He's been replaced by former Anderlecht assistant Mohamed Ouahbi, who has coached the national team's U20 and U23 sides.

John McGinn

SCOTLAND

The Tartan Army rejoiced when Scotland qualified for a ninth World Cup. They have never reached the knockout stage, and will be hoping to have secured progress from the group before their final fixture against Brazil. The opening game against Haiti looks like a must-win.

STAR PLAYERS

Veteran captain and long-time Liverpool defender Andy Robertson looks back to his best, while midfield options include Scott McTominay, who scored with a superb overhead kick in the qualification-group win against Denmark, and John McGinn fresh from winning the Europa League with Aston Villa. Up front, Lawrence Shankland enjoyed a fine season with Hearts ahead of his move to Rangers.

THE COACH

Scotland's longest-serving manager, Steve Clarke was appointed in 2019, but missed out on the 2022 World Cup. He reached the group stages of Euro 2020 and Euro 2024 and secured qualification for these finals by topping the group.

Bruno Guimarães

BRAZIL

Brazil's qualification campaign was underwhelming, with six losses out of 18 games, but they remain the only side to have reached every single World Cup and, with a stellar attacking line-up and an experienced coach, the five-time winners could clinch number six.

STAR PLAYERS

There's plenty of flair including Real Madrid's Vinícius Júnior, Barcelona's Raphinha, and all-time leading scorer Neymar, back for a fourth World Cup after struggles with injuries. Premier League stars include Manchester United's Matheus Cunha, Arsenal's Gabriel Martinelli, Newcastle's Bruno Guimarães, and Igor Thiago who netted more than 20 times for Brentford this season.

THE COACH

Former Italy midfielder Carlo Ancelotti won two European Cups with AC Milan as a player, and has a formidable managerial CV, having won titles in Europe's top five leagues and the Champions League five times.

HAITI

One of the smallest nations to reach the World Cup finals, Haiti are making their second appearance, the previous one coming in 1974 in West Germany, where they lost all three games. In qualifying, they topped a group including Costa Rica, despite not being able to host home games. A win over Scotland or Morocco will likely be required to progress.

STAR PLAYERS

Up front, Sunderland's Wilson Isidor got his first call-up this year, and the experienced top scorer Duckens Nazon always carries a goal threat. Veteran keeper Johny Placide, 38, captains the team, and Wolves' Jean-Ricner Bellegarde features in midfield.

THE COACH

Frenchman Sébastien Migné has coached four African national teams, and qualified Haiti for the World Cup having never visited the country due to the ongoing conflict there.

Mauricio Pochettino

Brenden Aaronson

USA

Expectations are high for the co-hosts, who have avoided the big guns and will fancy themselves, on home soil, to progress from a competitive group. Their first two friendlies of the year did not go well, however, as they lost 5-2 to Belgium and 2-0 to Portugal.

STAR PLAYERS

Captain Tim Ream is solid in defence alongside Chris Richards of Crystal Palace, while up front, familiar faces include former Chelsea player Christian Pulisic and Brenden Aaronson of Leeds. There's further Premier League pedigree in Fulham's Antonee Robinson and Bournemouth's Tyler Adams.

THE COACH

Former Tottenham and Chelsea boss Mauricio Pochettino was appointed in 2024 and, after a disappointing run, guided the team to the final of the 2025 Gold Cup. His son is the team's athletic coach.

AUSTRALIA

This is Australia's sixth straight World Cup and follows a good display in 2022 when they defeated Tunisia and Denmark before losing to Argentina in the round-of-16. The Socceroos were defeated just once in qualifying, finishing behind Japan.

STAR PLAYERS

Goalkeeeper and captain Mathew Ryan, who plays for Levante in La Liga, has represented Australia at three World Cups, while Watford youngster Nestory Irankunda has huge potential. Now at Bundesliga side FC St Pauli, experienced midfielder Jackson Irvine has played at Scottish clubs including Celtic, and represented Scotland at U19 level.

THE COACH

Ex-Crystal Palace and Australia defender Tony Popovic was appointed during the qualifying campaign and turned around his team's fortunes by playing counter-attacking football.

The Australian football team

Nestory Irankunda

Miguel Almirón

PARAGUAY

After four straight appearances between 1998 and 2010, when they lost to champions Spain in the quarter-finals, Paraguay are back after 16 years. A defensively solid side, they were the last of six automatic qualifiers from South America.

STAR PLAYERS

In attack, former Newcastle striker Miguel Almirón and one-time Brighton player Julio Enciso are goal threats, while captain Gustavo Gómez and Omar Alderete are part of a miserly defence. Brighton midfielder Diego Gómez will also be looking to make a mark.

THE COACH

Paraguay had three different coaches during qualifying, all of them Argentinian. Gustavo Alfaro has made an impact since taking over in 2024, and was undefeated in his first nine games, beating Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay.

Arda Güler

TURKEY

Turkey's last World Cup appearance came in 2002, when they knocked out Japan and Senegal before losing to eventual winners Brazil in the semi-finals and beating South Korea in the third-place play-off. They finished second behind Spain in qualification, and saw off Romania and Kosovo in the play-offs to reach the finals.

STAR PLAYERS

Playmaker Arda Güler is a world-class attacking midfielder who has spent three seasons at Real Madrid and impressed at Euro 2024. Kenan Yıldız, who plays for Juventus, is a talented left winger, and full back Ferdi Kadıoglu is a regular starter for Brighton.

THE COACH

Appointed in 2023, former Italy international Vincenzo Montella played in the 2002 World Cup and managed extensively in Serie A. He led Turkey to the quarter-finals at Euro 2024.

GROUP E

Amad Diallo

IVORY COAST

The Ivorians are returning to the World Cup finals for the first time since 2014, having never got past the group stage in three attempts. The Elephants went through their 10-match qualifying campaign without losing a game or conceding a goal and defeated Scotland in a March warm-up.

STAR PLAYERS

Villarreal's Nicolas Pépé, formerly of Arsenal, leads the line, with goals threats also coming from Inter Milan prospect Ange-Yoan Bonny and Manchester United's Amad Diallo. Franck Kessié is the team leader, while RB Leipzig teenager Yan Diomande has attracted interest from Premier League clubs.

THE COACH

Former Reading midfielder Emerse Faé played for his country 41 times and was appointed coach in January 2024, leading his side to the Africa Cup of Nations title the following month.

Celebrating qualification

CURAÇAO

The Caribbean island is the smallest nation ever to qualify for the World Cup, with a land mass of 171 square miles (smaller than the Isle of Man) and a population of just 150,000. Formerly part of the Netherlands Antilles, Curaçao only played its first international match in 2011 but qualified unbeaten in 10 matches.

STAR PLAYERS

As a former Dutch colony, it's no surprise that most players were born in the Netherlands, including Middlesbrough forward Sontje Hansen. Sheffield United's Tahith Chong is a tricksy midfielder while Leandro Bacuna has Premier League experience with Aston Villa.

THE COACH

Legendary boss Dick Advocaat led Curaçao to the finals before stepping down for personal reasons – only to return in May. At 78, he's the oldest coach in World Cup history.

Manuel Neuer has come out of retirement

GERMANY

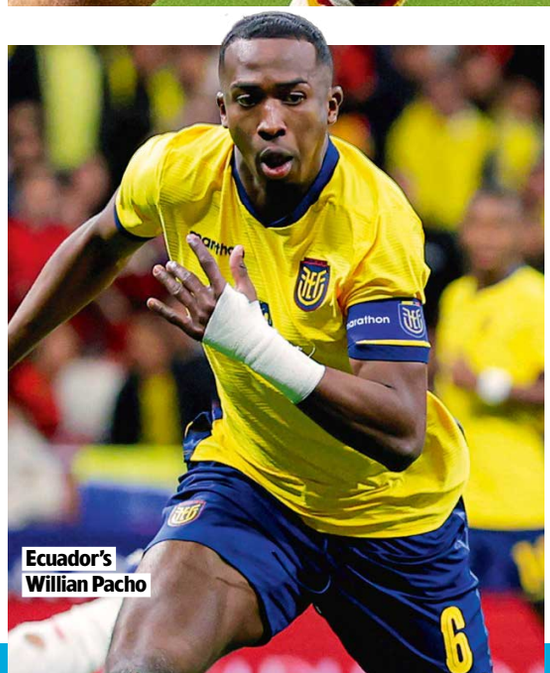
The four-time winners last claimed the crown in 2014 and have underperformed in recent years, crashing out in the group stage in Qatar. However, the current squad has huge strength in depth and has enough flair and experience to go deep into the tournament.

STAR PLAYERS

Liverpool fans may have mixed opinions about Florian Wirtz, but the 23-year-old never fails to impress on the international stage. Other attacking options include Arsenal's Kai Havertz and Newcastle United's Nick Woltemade, ably supported by Bayern Munich duo Leon Goretzka and Aleksandar Pavlovic. The Bayern contingent also includes captain Joshua Kimmich, teen star Lennart Karl, keeper Manuel Neuer and Jamal Musiala, back after breaking his leg.

THE COACH

Former Bayern Munich boss Julian Nagelsmann has been in charge since 2023 and is known for his tactical nous.



Ecuador's Willian Pacho

ECUADOR

The South Americans conceded just three goals in 10 games in 2025, and enjoyed victory over Argentina, but they also struggle to find the net. This is their fifth appearance at the finals, having qualified ahead of Brazil. They lost to Sir David Beckham's England in the round-of-16 in 2006 and were unlucky not to make it beyond the group stage in 2022.

STAR PLAYERS

Former West Ham striker Enner Valencia is his nation's all-time leading scorer and is still banging in the goals at the age of 36. Arsenal's on-loan Piero Hincapié, Pervis Estupiñán of AC Milan, and PSG's Champions League winner Willian Pacho are part of a rock-solid defence, while Chelsea's Moisés Caicedo bosses the midfield.

THE COACH

Argentina-born Sebastián Beccacece has revitalised the Ecuador squad since being appointed in 2024.

Viktor Gyökeres and (inset) coach Graham Potter

SWEDEN

Which is the first team in World Cup history to make the finals without winning a single qualifying group game? Yes, Sweden now have that dubious distinction after finishing bottom of their four-nation group, but still qualifying for the play-offs thanks to their Nations League record.

STAR PLAYERS

Arsenal striker Viktor Gyökeres played a major role in securing Sweden's place via the play-offs, scoring a hat-trick against Ukraine and a late winner versus Poland. Newcastle's Anthony Elanga is another potential match-winner, while Alexander Isak will have a point to prove after a disappointing, injury-hit first season at Liverpool.

THE COACH

After beginning his coaching career in Sweden, former Swansea, Brighton and (briefly) Chelsea and West Ham boss Graham Potter took over from Jon Dahl Tomasson last October.

TUNISIA

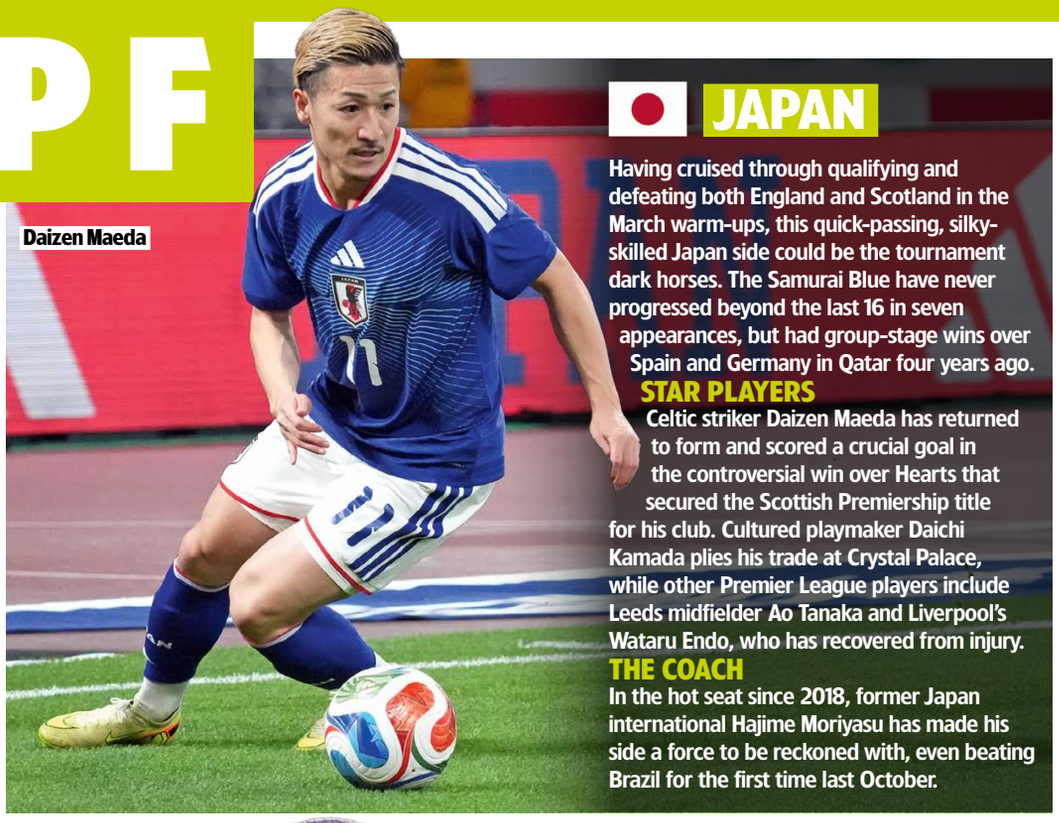
The North Africans have appeared in six World Cups, but are yet to make it past the group stage, and it could be a tall order this time, too – despite earning more points in qualification than any other African team. The Eagles of Carthage were not at their best at the recent Africa Cup of Nations, exiting at the round-of-16 stage on penalties at the hands of Mali.

STAR PLAYERS

Midfielder Rani Khedira, whose brother Sami Khedira won the 2014 World Cup with Germany, is in the squad after switching nationality. Burnley fans will be cheering on Hannibal Mejbri, who began his career at Manchester United, and there's a place for promising PSG forward Khalil Ayari.

THE COACH

Formerly in charge of Ivory Coast, French coach Sabri Lamouchi was appointed in January after spells at Nottingham Forest and Cardiff City.



Daizen Maeda

JAPAN

Having cruised through qualifying and defeating both England and Scotland in the March warm-ups, this quick-passing, silky-skilled Japan side could be the tournament dark horses. The Samurai Blue have never progressed beyond the last 16 in seven appearances, but had group-stage wins over Spain and Germany in Qatar four years ago.

STAR PLAYERS

Celtic striker Daizen Maeda has returned to form and scored a crucial goal in the controversial win over Hearts that secured the Scottish Premiership title for his club. Cultured playmaker Daichi Kamada plies his trade at Crystal Palace, while other Premier League players include Leeds midfielder Ao Tanaka and Liverpool's Wataru Endo, who has recovered from injury.

THE COACH

In the hot seat since 2018, former Japan international Hajime Moriyasu has made his side a force to be reckoned with, even beating Brazil for the first time last October.

Dutch captain Virgil van Dijk

Memphis Depay

NETHERLANDS

The Oranje are making a 12th appearance, but despite being unbeaten in qualification, no one seems to be talking about the three-time finalists as potential World Cup winners – something that could work to their advantage. The Dutch were knocked out by eventual champions Argentina in 2022 in a dramatic, bad-tempered tie that saw a record 18 yellow cards and one red.

STAR PLAYERS

At the age of 34, this is likely to be Virgil van Dijk's international swansong. He provides the leadership for a talented side that includes Liverpool teammates Ryan Gravenberch and Cody Gakpo. Memphis Depay, who now plays his club football in Brazil, became his country's leading marksman during the qualifiers, overhauling Robin van Persie's record.

THE COACH

Former Southampton and Everton boss Ronald Koeman was appointed in 2023 for a second spell in charge, leading his side to the semi-finals at Euro 2024, losing to England.

GROUP G

Alexis Saelemaekers, Youri Tielemans and Jérémy Doku

BELGIUM

Belgium's golden generation may have failed to reach their potential, but the Red Devils still pose a potent threat with a blend of experienced stalwarts and an exciting new crop of players. Undefeated in qualifying, Belgium have now gone an astonishing 46 World Cup and Euro qualifiers without losing and are appearing at the tournament for a 15th time, finishing third in 2018 after beating England 2-0.

STAR PLAYERS

Kevin De Bruyne, Thibaut Courtois and record goal scorer Romelu Lukaku remain at the heart of the team, while younger players include Aston Villa midfielder Amadou Onana and Manchester City wideman Jérémy Doku. Manchester United keeper Senne Lammens has done well this season.

THE COACH

Former Roma and Napoli boss Rudi Garcia took the helm in 2025 and has hired former Chelsea star Eden Hazard as his assistant.

Mehdi Taremi

IRAN

Iran's fourth consecutive appearance has been overshadowed by the nation's ongoing conflict with the co-hosts, the USA. With their participation in jeopardy up to the last minute, their preparations haven't been helped by the cancellation of warm-up matches and FIFA's refusal to let them play their group games in Mexico rather than the US.

STAR PLAYERS

Olympiacos striker Mehdi Taremi is one of the few players to ply his trade outside his home league, having had stints at Porto and Inter Milan, and scored 10 times as Iran qualified with ease. Defender Ehsan Hajsafi is a mainstay, and has played for Frankfurt, Olympiacos and AEK Athens.

THE COACH

After success in the Iran Pro League, Amir Ghalenoei is back in the hot seat following an unhappy first spell in 2006-2007.

Egypt's captain Mohamed Salah

EGYPT

Making a fourth appearance at the finals, the Pharaohs were unbeaten in qualifying. They carried that form into the Africa Cup of Nations, where they narrowly lost to Senegal in the semi-finals. Having also held Spain to a warm-up draw in March, this well-drilled side will be hopeful of progressing from the first round for the first time.

STAR PLAYERS

The squad is drawn almost exclusively from the country's home league, with the notable exception of captain Mohamed Salah. The prolific striker, who turns 34 during the tournament, has just left Liverpool after a glittering nine seasons at Anfield in which he won the Premier League Golden Boot four times. Other stars include Manchester City striker Omar Marmoush.

THE COACH

Hossam Hassan – who is also Egypt's leading goalscorer, just ahead of Salah – took charge in 2024.

Chris Wood and (inset) coach Darren Bazeley

NEW ZEALAND

The lowest-ranked team in the tournament is playing at its first World Cup since 2010. Can the All Whites get out of the group stage at the third attempt? A poor run of results since qualification suggests not.

STAR PLAYERS

All-time leading goalscorer and national-team captain Chris Wood, who played as a teenager at the 2010 tournament, is fit again after missing most of Nottingham Forest's season following knee surgery. Other striking options include Ben Waine, who enjoyed a memorable FA Cup run with Port Vale, and Elijah Just, who had an impressive first season at Motherwell. Millwall reserve keeper Max Crocombe is the first choice in the nets.

THE COACH

English boss Darren Bazeley is the first coach in FIFA history to coach at the Olympic Games, the U17 and U20 World Cups, and the World Cup.

Andrés Iniesta lifts the 2010 trophy

SPAIN

The reigning European champions were near flawless throughout qualification but have not gone beyond the last 16 since lifting the trophy in 2010. La Roja are the second-ranked team in the world, and on a run of 26 matches without defeat, stretching back to March 2024.

STAR PLAYERS

As Barcelona superstar Lamine Yamal and Arsenal forward Mikel Merino race to recover from injury, the squad still has a wealth of attacking options, including Athletic Bilbao's Nico Williams and Real Sociedad's Mikel Oyarzabal, Spain's joint top scorer in qualifying. Add to the mix Barcelona's Pedri, PSG's Fabián Ruiz and Manchester City's Rodri, and it's easy to see why Spain start the tournament as favourites.

THE COACH

After success with Spain's U19s and U21s, Luis de la Fuente was appointed in 2022 and has already led Spain to Nations League and Euros silverware.

URUGUAY

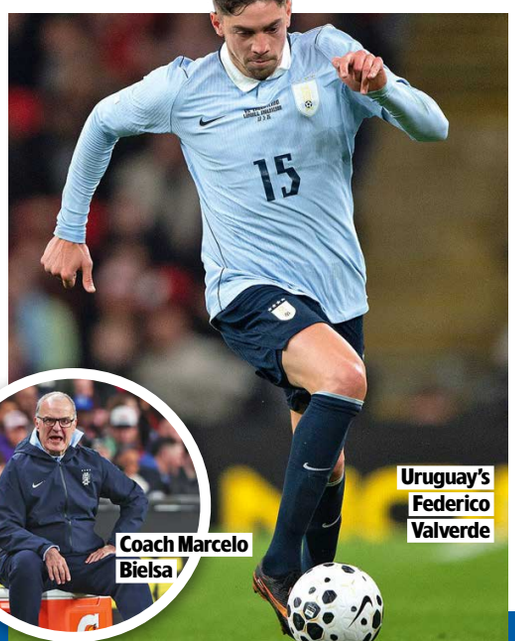
Winners of the first-ever World Cup as hosts in 1930, the South Americans also took the title in 1950. They defeated Roy Hodgson's England 2-1 in 2014, but failed to get out of their group last time out in Qatar. Blending flair with ill discipline, Uruguay suffered a setback in their preparations, losing 5-1 to the USA last November when Spurs' Rodrigo Bentancur received a straight red card.

STAR PLAYERS

Real Madrid midfielder Federico Valverde, Barcelona stopper Ronald Araújo and Atlético Madrid defender (and captain) José Maria Gimenez have plenty of Champions League experience, while other familiar faces include former Liverpool striker Darwin Núñez and Manchester United's Manuel Ugarte.

THE COACH

Former Leeds United boss Marcelo Bielsa was appointed in 2023, having coached Argentina and Chile at earlier tournaments.



Coach Marcelo Bielsa

The Blue Sharks

CAPE VERDE

There were scenes of jubilation when Cape Verde became the third-smallest nation to qualify for the World Cup (after Curaçao and Iceland). The Atlantic Ocean archipelago is a former Portuguese colony off the coast of West Africa and has a population of 525,000. The Blue Sharks played their first international match in 1978 and begin the tournament with a daunting opener against Spain in Atlanta.

STAR PLAYERS

Striker Dailon Livramento, recently on loan at Casa Pia in Portugal's top division, was his side's leading scorer in the qualifiers with four, while veteran defender Stopira and Willy Semedo also chipped in with vital goals.

THE COACH

Former Cape Verde captain Pedro Leitão Brito, known as Bubista, has coached the team since 2020, guiding them to two appearances at the Africa Cup of Nations.

SAUDI ARABIA

The Saudis have made their presence felt in world football, but the kingdom's wealth has yet to translate into on-pitch success. The Green Falcons have made six appearances, with a round-of-16 finish in 1994 in the US their best result. They caused one of the biggest upsets in World Cup history by defeating Argentina 2-1 in 2022, but failed to get out of their group.

STAR PLAYERS

Captain Salem Al-Dawsari, who plays for Al-Hilal, is the outstanding player of his generation and scored the winner against Argentina four years ago. Ali Lajami is a commanding figure in defence, and Firas al-Buraikan is a reliable source of goals.

THE COACH

Despite leading his team to the finals, Frenchman Hervé Renard was sacked in April. His successor is Greek coach Georgios Donis, who has managed several Saudi Pro League sides.

The team during the qualifiers

Paris Saint-Germain's Ousmane Dembélé

IRAQ

It's been 40 years since Iraq last graced the World Cup and they became the final team to book their place at this summer's tournament when they defeated Bolivia 2-1 in an intercontinental play-off. Will the Lions of Mesopotamia go on to better their only other appearance, in 1986, when they lost all their games and scored a solitary goal?

STAR PLAYERS

In a squad bereft of big names, Aymen Hussein is considered the team's most important player and the 30-year-old striker's goals – including the winner in the play-off against Bolivia – were crucial in their qualification campaign. Midfielder Ibrahim Bayesh, defender Ali Adnan Kadhim and keeper Jalal Hassan are experienced performers on the international stage.

THE COACH

Former Australia boss Graham Arnold took over a year ago and rescued Iraq's flagging qualification campaign.

FRANCE

With an eye-watering array of attacking talent, France are hotly tipped to claim a third world title. Les Bleus qualified without losing a match and recent victories over strong Brazil and Colombia sides in friendlies suggest they can go all the way again after losing to Argentina in a thrilling 2022 final.

STAR PLAYERS

With a forward line boasting Real Madrid's Kylian Mbappé, Bayern Munich winger Michael Olise and PSG's Ballon d'Or winner Ousmane Dembélé, goals shouldn't be a problem. Real Madrid's Aurélien Tchouaméni and Fenerbahce veteran N'Golo Kanté provide a formidable partnership in midfield, while Arsenal centre back William Saliba has been in imperious form.

THE COACH

Didier Deschamps has been in charge since 2012, but will be stepping down after this tournament. Will he become the second coach (after Italy's 1930s manager Vittorio Pozzo) to win the World Cup twice?

France coach Didier Deschamps

SENEGAL

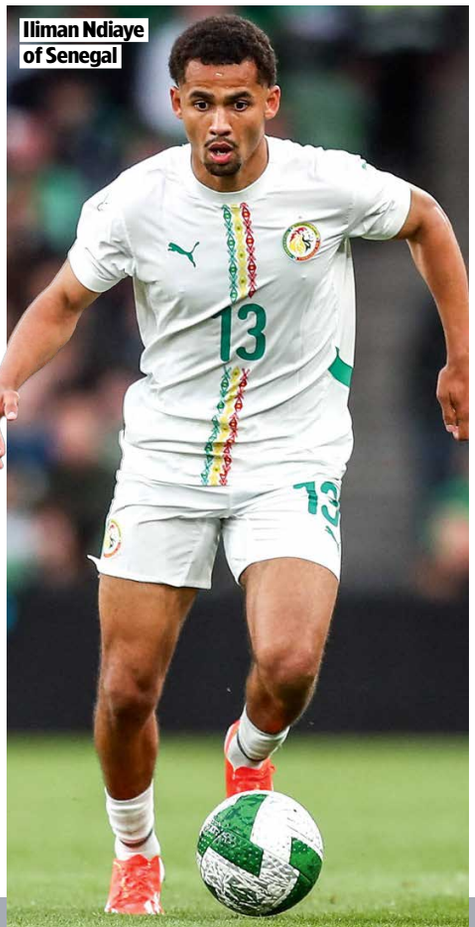
Senegal won this year's African Cup of Nations – until the authorities chalked off their victory for leaving the pitch when hosts Morocco were awarded a controversial penalty. After a strong performance in qualifying, the Lions of Teranga will be aiming to eclipse their best-ever World Cup campaign, when they reached the quarter-finals in Japan/South Korea in 2002.

STAR PLAYERS

Former Liverpool striker Sadio Mané – now playing at Saudi club Al-Nassr – remains their talisman and is the country's all-time top scorer with 53 goals. The 34-year-old will hope to add to that total before retiring after the tournament and will be joined in attack by Bayern Munich on-loan forward Nicolas Jackson, Everton's Iliman Ndiaye and Crystal Palace's Ismaïla Sarr.

THE COACH

Pape Thiaw guided his team to this year's AFCON final and is a popular figure in the dressing room.



Iliman Ndiaye of Senegal

Norway captain Martin Ødegaard

Striker Erling Haaland

NORWAY

This is Norway's first appearance in a World Cup since 1998 when they made the round-of-16 following a heroic victory against Brazil. Their 100% record in qualifying included a 4-1 drubbing of four-time winners Italy in Milan in the final fixture.

STAR PLAYERS

Manchester City marksman Erling Haaland has built a reputation as the world's best centre forward and scored 16 goals (and in every game) in qualifying, including five goals in an 11-1 win over Moldova. He'll be joined up front by Crystal Palace's Jørgen Strand Larsen and Atlético striker Alexander Sørloth, while captain Martin Ødegaard of Arsenal pulls the strings in midfield.

THE COACH

Ståle Solbakken, capped 58 times as a player, was appointed in 2020 after previous stints with Wolves, Cologne and Copenhagen.

GROUP J

Marko Arnautovic

AUSTRIA

Austria finished third at the 1954 World Cup, but have failed to qualify since France 98. However, there's optimism surrounding the current team, who topped a qualification group containing Bosnia and Herzegovina and Romania, and recorded convincing victories over Ghana and South Korea in friendlies.

STAR PLAYERS

RB Leipzig midfielder Christoph Baumgartner is the main creative force, while veteran forward Marko Arnautovic found the net eight times in qualifying, becoming his nation's record goalscorer in the process. Borussia Dortmund midfielder Marcel Sabitzer and Spurs defender Kevin Danso should also feature.

THE COACH

Ralf Rangnick had an unsuccessful spell at Old Trafford, but the German's high-intensity style has revived Austria over the past four years.

Debutants Jordan

JORDAN

The Middle Eastern nation will play in its first-ever World Cup match when it takes the field against Austria in San Francisco. They finished second behind South Korea in the qualification group, sealing their place in North America with a 3-0 victory over Oman that sparked large-scale celebrations in the capital city Amman.

STAR PLAYERS

Forwards Musa Al-Taamari of Rennes and Ibrahim Sabra of Lokomotiva Zagreb are the only players in the squad plying their trade in Europe. The former has been a vital part of Jordan's recent success, scoring and assisting in a historic 2-0 win against South Korea in the semi-final of the Asian Cup in February 2024.

THE COACH

Jamal Sellami was appointed in 2024 and led Jordan to its first Arab Cup final in 2025 where they were lost to his home nation of Morocco.

Algeria's Riyad Mahrez

ALGERIA

This is Algeria's fifth appearance and their first since 2014, when they made the round-of-16 for the first time and were knocked out by Germany. They disappointed at this year's AFCON, being eliminated in the quarter-finals by Nigeria.

Goalkeeper Luca Zidane

STAR PLAYERS

Now aged 35, former Leicester and Manchester City winger Riyad Mahrez is the captain of the Desert Foxes and remains the most influential player, with a penchant for scoring important goals from the right flank. Wolfsburg striker Mohamed Amoura was prolific in qualifying, netting 10 goals in 10 matches, and look out for Luca Zidane, son of France World Cup winner Zinedine Zidane, in the nets.

Vladimir Petković was appointed in 2024 following strong performances while in charge of Switzerland, but will the Bosnian-Swiss coach be able to guide Algeria out of a competitive group?

ARGENTINA

Argentina emerged victorious in a barnstorming final against France in 2022. Since then, they've won the 2024 Copa America and topped the South American qualifying group. Will the three-time winners become the first nation to successfully defend their title since Brazil in 1962?

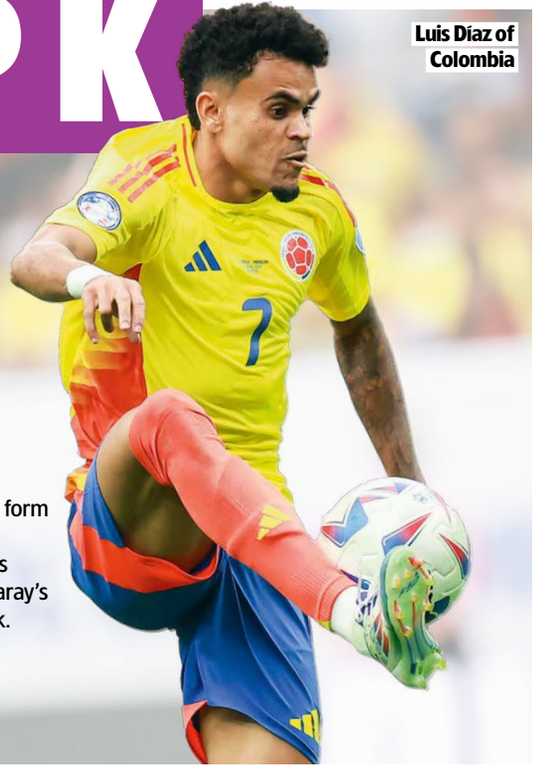
STAR PLAYERS

All eyes will be on Lionel Messi in his sixth and final World Cup, but the holders have plenty of other stars in the squad. Atlético Madrid's Julián Alvarez spearheads the attack, Chelsea's Enzo Fernández and Liverpool's Alexis Mac Allister are key midfielders, while Aston Villa goalkeeper Emi Martínez is a master of gamesmanship.

THE COACH

In 2018, Diego Maradona criticised the appointment of an 'unqualified' Lionel Scaloni – yet the former West Ham defender has since become a national hero due to his tournament victories.

GROUP K



Luis Díaz of Colombia

COLOMBIA

Colombia lost to England in a round-of-16 penalty shoot-out in 2018 and failed to make it to Qatar in 2022. However, they've been in good form since then and came close to winning the Copa America two years ago, losing to Argentina in a tense final. They also finished above Uruguay and Brazil in South American qualifying this time out.

STAR PLAYERS

Liverpool have missed Luis Díaz since he departed for Bayern Munich and the winger has been in scintillating form this season, also netting seven goals during qualifying. Elsewhere, former Real Madrid and Everton star James Rodríguez still pulls the strings in midfield and Galatasaray's Davinson Sánchez is a tower of strength at centre back.

THE COACH

Néstor Lorenzo took over following Colombia's failure to qualify for the 2022 World Cup and has overseen a significant upturn in form.

Cristiano Ronaldo

Portuguese star Bruno Fernandes

PORTUGAL

Portugal reached the semi-finals in 1966 and 2006, but are perhaps the biggest footballing nation never to have contested a World Cup final. The Class of '26 will be hoping to change that after comfortably topping their qualification group despite a defeat to Ireland in which Cristiano Ronaldo was sent off. However, the 41-year-old will be able to play in Portugal's opening fixtures after FIFA intervened to suspend his ban.

STAR PLAYERS

Legendary goal-getter Cristiano Ronaldo will be leading the line in his sixth tournament, but Portugal's real strength lies in midfield, where Manchester United star Bruno Fernandes, Paris Saint-Germain schemer Vitinha and long-time Manchester City stalwart Bernardo Silva are among the game's best playmakers in the world.

THE COACH

Former Belgium coach Roberto Martínez was appointed in 2023, but was criticised as Portugal failed to impress at Euro 2024.

Yoane Wissa

DR CONGO

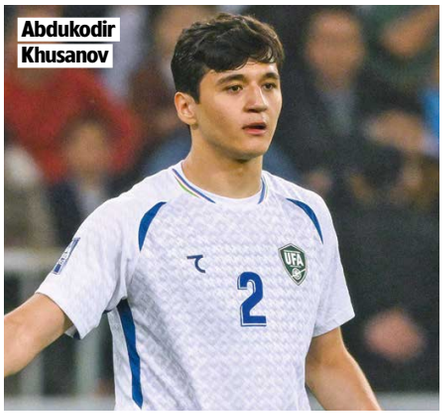
It's been 52 years since Democratic Republic of Congo's last World Cup appearance, when they competed in 1974's tournament as Zaire, losing all three matches including a 9-0 thrashing by Yugoslavia. The Leopards are back after qualifying by defeating Jamaica in a play-off to crown a promising spell in which they've reached two AFCON semi-finals in the last 11 years.

STAR PLAYERS

Newcastle United striker Yoane Wissa will hope to regain the form that saw the Magpies spend £50m to bring him in from Brentford. He'll be joined up front by Real Betis forward Cédric Bakambu, while West Ham full-back Aaron Wan-Bissaka needs no introduction.

THE COACH

Frenchman Sébastien Desabre has done fine work since he was appointed in 2022 and his side were unlucky in their narrow defeat to Algeria in the last-16 of this year's AFCON.



Abdukodir Khusanov

UZBEKISTAN

The first Central Asian nation to qualify for the World Cup in the tournament's history, the White Wolves give little away in defence and sealed their place with a 0-0 draw against the United Arab Emirates, sparking wild celebrations in capital city Tashkent.

STAR PLAYERS

Manchester City centre back Abdukodir Khusanov is just 22, but he's already the linchpin of Uzbekistan's defence and played a key role in their qualification. Elsewhere, Eldor Shomurodov has been in prolific form for Istanbul Basaksehir this season, netting 23 goals during a loan spell from Roma. He's also his country's captain and record goalscorer.

THE COACH

Former Uzbekistan midfielder Timur Kapadze guided his nation through qualification, but was replaced last year by Fabio Cannavaro, who won the World Cup as a player with Italy in 2006.

England legend Harry Kane

Manchester City's Nico O'Reilly

ENGLAND

David Baddiel and Frank Skinner may have sung about 30 years of hurt, but it's now been 60 years since England lifted the World Cup. The Three Lions have reached the final of the last two Euros, suggesting success is just around the corner, but critics would point to an inability to beat the big boys at those tournaments. After qualifying without conceding a goal, will England finally live up to the nation's enormous expectations?

STAR PLAYERS

In Harry Kane, England have arguably the world's finest centre forward, and the Bayern Munich star has scored more than 60 goals this season. Real Madrid's Jude Bellingham and Arsenal's Declan Rice form a powerful midfield partnership, while Manchester City youngster Nico O'Reilly could be the team's secret weapon from left back.

THE COACH

Former PSG, Bayern and Chelsea boss Thomas Tuchel will bring a tactical nous that could prove crucial in the tournament's latter stages.

CROATIA

The Croats punched well above their weight at the last two tournaments, reaching the final in 2018 and the semi-finals in Qatar. But with their golden generation either in the autumn of their careers or having retired, they were disappointing at Euro 2024, crashing out in the group stage. They should escape the group here, but it would be a surprise if they repeated the heroics of World Cups gone by.

STAR PLAYERS

Captain and six-time Champions League winner Luka Modric could earn his 200th cap in North America. Manchester City's Joško Gvardiol has built a reputation as a world-class centre back and will form an important partnership with promising 19-year-old Luka Vuškovic.

THE COACH

Zlatko Dalic has enjoyed two memorable World Cup campaigns since taking the hot seat in 2017.

Luka Modric

Antoine Semenyo

GHANA

Ghana failed to even qualify for this year's AFCON, but topped their World Cup qualification group. The Black Stars will be desperate to make the knockout stage for the first time since 2010, when they were a missed penalty away from becoming the first African country to reach a World Cup semi-final.

STAR PLAYERS

Ghana have no shortage of pace and power in their attacking line and Premier League fans will be familiar with Manchester City's Antoine Semenyo. Athletic Bilbao star Iñaki Williams will also give opposition defenders plenty to think about, while veteran striker Jordan Ayew continues up front in the absence of Tottenham Hotspur's Mohammed Kudus.

THE COACH

Former Manchester United coach Carlos Queiroz only took charge in April and will need to get a handle on his squad quickly.

PANAMA

Los Canaleros will be playing in their second World Cup. Their only other appearance came in 2018, but they exited at the group stage after suffering three defeats, including a 6-1 drubbing by England. However, there's belief this time will be different, especially after a run to the Gold Cup final in 2023.

STAR PLAYERS

Midfielder Adalberto Carrasquilla is Panama's creative engine and won the Golden Ball as the best player of the 2023 Gold Cup. Besiktas' Michael Amir Murillo is a calming presence at right back, captain Aníbal Godoy plays a crucial role anchoring the midfield, and forward Cecilio Waterman is always good for a goal.

THE COACH

Denmark-born Thomas Christiansen played at Barcelona under Johan Cruyff and has tried to emulate the Dutch legend's brand of attacking football since taking the Panama job in 2020.

1966 and all that...

It's 60 years since England became the first and only home nation to win a World Cup. Here's how they did it...

Brazil's Carlos Alberto in 1970

Golden memories

From Brazilian brilliance to Maradona magic, North America has staged the World Cup on three unforgettable occasions...

MEXICO 1970

The 1970 World Cup was the tournament in which Brazil cemented their reputation as the finest exponents of the beautiful game, with stars like Rivellino, Jairzinho and, of course, Pelé leading the country to its third title in four events – and permanent possession of the Jules Rimet Trophy.

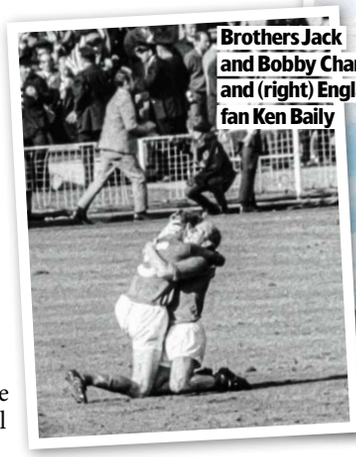
In the final, they crowned a resounding 4-1 victory against Italy with an iconic team goal as eight players combined to produce a flowing move that was eventually smashed home by marauding full back Carlos Alberto.

Brazil were also involved in a classic group fixture against the defending champions, Alf Ramsey's England, which they won 1-0, a game remembered for Gordon Banks' miraculous save from a Pelé header. England went out in a quarter-final defeat to West Germany after being 2-0 up. The Germans eventually won 3-2 after extra time.

Pelé and England's Bobby Moore

The victorious England team, including captain Bobby Moore with the trophy

England entered the 1966 World Cup on home soil with great expectations but also huge pressures. As hosts, they were widely fancied to go far in the tournament and had been managed for nearly four years by Alf Ramsey, who had world-class players to choose from, including captain Bobby Moore, creative force Bobby Charlton, natural finisher Jimmy Greaves and dependable goalkeeper Gordon Banks.



Brothers Jack and Bobby Charlton, and (right) England fan Ken Baily

GROUP MATCHES

England were drawn in Group 1, beginning with a 0–0 draw against Uruguay, before finding form against Mexico with a 2–0 victory, including Bobby Charlton's memorable long-range strike. The final group match – a convincing 2-0 win over France – was marred by an injury to Jimmy Greaves, who missed the rest of the tournament. At the time, it seemed like a setback, but it would prove to be a turning point in England's campaign…

England boss Alf Ramsey

KNOCKOUT ROUNDS

In the quarter-final, Greaves was replaced by West Ham striker Geoff Hurst, who scored his first international goal in a physical 1-0 win over Argentina. After Argentine captain Antonio Rattín was sent off, Ramsey claimed England's opponents had behaved like 'animals' and prevented his players swapping shirts with them. The semi-final against Portugal was a showcase of England's growing confidence. Portugal's brilliant Eusébio scored a penalty, but a brace from Bobby Charlton gave England victory.

THE FINAL

A crowd of 96,924 attended the Wembley final on 30 July as England faced a West Germany side packed with talent, including young midfielder Franz Beckenbauer and defender Wolfgang Weber, who scored a dramatic late equaliser as it finished 2-2 after 90 minutes.

In extra time, Geoff Hurst scored one of the most debated goals in football history when his shot bounced down from the crossbar and was judged to have crossed the line. Hurst then completed a hat-trick to seal victory, becoming the first player to score three goals in a World Cup final as England won 4-2.

As Bobby Moore received the Jules Rimet Trophy from Queen Elizabeth II, the nation celebrated. In the six decades since, no home nation has reached another World Cup final.

Becoming Sir Geoff Hurst in 1998, the England legend is now aged 84 and the only member of the World Cup-winning team still with us. 'At the time, the hat-trick wasn't important, it was the winning that mattered,' he says. 'I hope young people today can experience and feel what we felt.'

● C4 is showing the entire 1966 final on Saturday 6 June (also available via Channel 4 Streaming)

● MEXICO 1986

Diego Maradona stamped his name all over football history when the midfield genius inspired Argentina to their second World Cup title in 1986. The defining moment came in the quarter-final when he scored twice in a 2-1 victory against Bobby Robson's England – his opening 'Hand of God' goal and a wonderful solo effort.

Diego Maradona and (right) the Hand of God goal

Argentina would go on to beat West Germany 3-2 in the final, while England's Gary Lineker won the Golden Boot after netting six goals.

Scotland – led by caretaker manager Sir Alex Ferguson following the death of Jock Stein – failed to make the knockout rounds, losing all three of their games, with Gordon Strachan scoring the Scots' only goal against West Germany. Billy Bingham's Northern Ireland were also eliminated in the group stage.

Gordon Strachan (Scotland)

● USA 1994

The tournament began with a scuffed spot kick from pop star Diana Ross during the opening ceremony and ended with a similar miss from Italy's Roberto Baggio as Brazil won a historic fourth title in LA in the first World Cup final to be decided on penalties.

Five goals from Brazil striker Romário were among the highlights, while Baggio was inspirational for Italy, scoring a spate of last-gasp goals in the knockout rounds, before his shoot-out despair in the final.

None of the home nations qualified for the tournament, but the Republic of Ireland gave us something to cheer about by beating Italy 1-0 in their opening game. In the second round, Jack Charlton's men went out 2-0 to the Netherlands, who'd made it to the finals at the expense of Graham Taylor's England.

Summer lovin'

Two childhood sweethearts are given a second chance at love...

prime Every Year After

NEW Available: Wed 10 June Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 8

It wouldn't be summer without a coming-of-age romantic drama to keep us all glued to the screens, and fans of shows like The Summer I Turned Pretty and One Day should be equally obsessed with new Prime Video series Every Year After.

Based on the bestselling novel Every Summer After by Carley Fortune, the eight-parter follows teens Persephone 'Percy' Fraser (Sadie Soverall) and Sam Florek (Matt Cornett) over six blissful lakehouse summers in Barry's Bay, Ontario.

Spending lazy days on the lake and hectic evenings working in the Florek family restaurant, alongside Sam's older brother Charlie (Michael Bradway), Percy and Sam go from being best friends to falling head over heels in love. The pair are inseparable – until Percy makes an error of judgement that breaks Sam's heart.

After a decade apart, a family tragedy involving Sam's mum, Sue (Elisha Cuthbert), leads Percy to return to Barry's Bay, where she's reunited with the man she left behind. Thrust back into each other's orbits, she and Sam soon cut through any tension with the easy banter their relationship thrived on.

HEART-TO-HEART

'One of my favourite things about Sam is that he's such a goofball but also this deeply loving and caring person,' explains Cornett. 'Some of my favourite stuff to film as Sam were the goofy scenes with Percy, where he shows his intense love for her through silliness.'

Over an emotional weekend, will the couple's connection prove bigger than the huge mistake that drove them apart?

'When I read the original novel, I was hooked immediately,' says Soverall. 'I love Percy. She is so layered, goes through all these mistakes, and figures her way out. She's messy, she's funny, and she's human. As a young woman in her 20s, it means the world to me to get to represent that.'

Meanwhile, author Carley Fortune says she can't wait to see what fans make of her beloved book being given the TV treatment.

'It holds a very special place in my heart and in the hearts of readers all over the world who deeply connect with Sam and Percy's love story,' she says. 'I'm excited to take their journey even further beyond the pages of the book, onto the screen, and into the hearts of audiences across the globe.'

Queer Eye's Antoni Porowski discovers unique experiences on offer in the capital

Disney+ Best of the World

NEW Available: Monday 8 June Genre: Travelogue Season: 1 Episodes: 4

Antoni Porowski, the food and wine expert on America's Queer Eye, is on a mission to get under the skin of four major cities in his new travelogue Best of the World on Disney+.

In the four-part series, which is also airing on National Geographic, the Montreal-born star visits Paris, Mexico City and the city he has made his home, New York, but he begins his journey in London.

'There's nowhere quite like London – 2,000 years of history, community and culture and it's still the coolest kid in class,' enthuses Porowski, 42.

CAPITAL ADVENTURE

The self-taught chef digs into London's eclectic food scene – sampling salt beef bagels in Brick Lane and an Indian Sunday roast in Islington. He also seeks out experiences that define the capital and, despite suffering from vertigo, ventures to the top of the Shard – London's 310m-high skyscraper – to look out over the city's skyline.

'It is overwhelming, it is humbling and it puts things into perspective,' says Porowski of the view.

The city also throws in some surprises for Porowski, who takes a cold water swim in a hidden oasis in the middle of Canary Wharf's financial district and practises yoga in a greenhouse in Kew Gardens.

'Before this trip I was in London as a viewer,' he says. 'This time, for the first time in my life, I actually got to experience it and live in it. And that's pretty cool.'

LaNasa as Dana

Duty of care

Katherine LaNasa on playing The Pitt's beloved charge nurse

HBO max The Pitt

Available: Friday 12 June Genre: Drama
Season: 2 Episode: 12 (of 15; episodes released weekly)

Following years on the front line of emergency medicine, the Pitt's day-shift charge nurse Dana Evans (Katherine LaNasa) has seen the ugly side of nursing, after being punched and kicked by those she's dedicated to helping.

In this week's Season 2 episode, Dana rushes to help young nurse Emma Nolan (Laëtitia Hollard) when she's violently grabbed by patient Curtis (Travis Van Winkle) and incurs the wrath of Dr Robby (Noah Wyle) over the way she handles Curtis.

LaNasa's breakout role as the no-nonsense Dana has come in her 50s, and she has real-life nurses to thank for her Emmy-winning portrayal.

'I talked with charge nurses to get a sense of their tone, which I would call a compassionate detachment, so they can keep going,' LaNasa, 59, tells TV&Streaming Week exclusively.

'They can't have a big, histrionic response to every trauma that comes in because they wouldn't be able to do their job.

'Playing this role has made me more compassionate, because even though the situations were fictional, they're based on real stories, and it made me realise that you don't know what people are going through.'

LaNasa adds that it was also important to put the spotlight on medical professionals.

'The thesis was to be a love letter to emergency healthcare workers,' she says. 'Sometimes nurses will tell me their stories, or they'll write on my Instagram. I think we're helping them.'

In full bloom

The best friends head for the bright lights of New York

Choosing Helen's dress

NETFLIX Sweet Magnolias

NEW Available: Thursday 11 June Genre: Drama Season: 5 Episodes: 10

Three lifelong best friends from the fictional small town of Serenity in South Carolina take a bite out of the Big Apple when heart-warming US drama Sweet Magnolias returns to Netflix for a fifth season.

The Season 4 finale saw lawyer Helen (Heather Headley) get engaged to Erik (Dion Johnstone), Dana Sue (Brooke Elliott) step down as executive chef of restaurant Sullivan's to focus on a new business venture and Maddie (JoAnna Garcia Swisher) accept a high-profile publishing job in New York City, leaving behind husband Cal (Justin Bruening), her children and, of course, her beloved besties.

Having been there for each other through all of life's tears, triumphs and tragedies, though, the friends refuse to let a job relocation get in the way of margarita night! Besides, where better for them all to go wedding dress shopping for Helen than on Fifth Avenue?

A BITE OF THE BIG APPLE

'We're thrilled to let the Magnolias take Manhattan,' says showrunner Sheryl J Anderson of the 10-part series. 'Not only is this adventure huge fun, it's also an opportunity to explore the facets of their relationships in a new context. While it's crucial to have true friends in day-to-day life, it's priceless to have them supporting you when you leap out of your comfort zone.'

Swisher was all for Maddie getting to blossom outside of Serenity. '[I know] people were not happy when Maddie took a job in New York. It's all about expanding and contracting. That's what life is.'

Back in Serenity, Helen's excitedly planning her wedding when Erik's niece Jessica (Iman Benson) arrives with shock news that threatens to derail the couple's big day. Meanwhile, as Dana Sue pursues her passion of launching a teaching kitchen, she and husband Ronnie (Brandon Quinn) wonder if their dreams still align.

'There's so much that happens; a lot of new beginnings and possibilities,' says Swisher. 'And also endings that are unexpected but lead to some exciting things.'

NEW FACTUAL

Britney: In Ten Pictures

Thu, 9pm (N Ireland, 11pm), BBC2

From appearing on Disney TV show The Mickey Mouse Club as a youngster to taking the charts by storm with hits such as Toxic and Oops!…I Did it Again, Britney Spears has been one of the biggest stars of her generation.

But her fame has come at a cost, as this documentary reveals by featuring the pictures that define the US pop singer's life – starting with a wholesome photo shoot at her home in Louisiana in 1999, when she was 16 and on the brink of releasing her debut album, …Baby One More Time.

OBJECTIFIED

But it wasn't long before Spears' image was sexualised and she was forced to live her life in the glare of the media, hounded by paparazzi.

The video for …Baby One More Time, which saw her dancing in a skimpy school uniform, was followed by a Rolling Stone photo shoot in which she posed on a bed, while another magazine allegedly doctored a photo to enlarge her cleavage.

Gareth Southgate: Changing the Game for Young Men

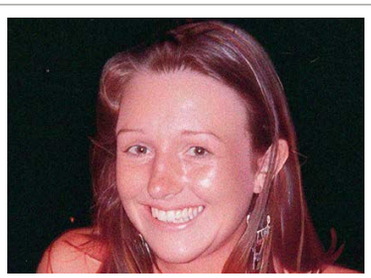
Monday, 9pm, BBC1

Former England football manager Sir Gareth Southgate meets teenage boys and young men who are struggling with their mental health, school pressures, crime and isolation. As he tries to grasp why they feel disconnected, can he come up with solutions to turn things around?

Bear Grylls Is Running Wild

Tuesday, 10pm, Sky One

This week, Hollywood star Elizabeth Banks joins the survival expert in the great outdoors. After being shrunk to six inches in recent comedy drama The Miniature Wife, Banks (left, with Grylls) faces a new set of challenges as she braves freezing lakes and moving ice floes as Grylls asks her to trek and rappel across Norway's Folgefonna glacier.



Rob Rinder: The Crime I Can't Forget

Monday, 9pm, Crime + Investigation

In August 2005, 22-year-old Lucy Hargreaves was killed in her home by three men. Back then, Rinder was a criminal defence barrister, and represented Kirk Bradley, who along with co-defendant Tony Downes was acquitted. Here, he revisits the case in the hope that new evidence might see justice served.

historian Hettie Judah, who features in the documentary.

When Spears married her backing dancer Kevin Federline in 2004 and became a mother, the narrative around her changed, with newspapers constantly portraying her as an unfit parent.

'I don't understand how so many people don't see that this was a woman who was having a hard time, who needed support, and how we collectively made it much worse,' says fan Meg Radford.

In 2007, Spears suffered a well-publicised mental-health crisis when she famously shaved her hair and attacked a photographer with an umbrella. A year later, she was placed in a conservatorship – a legal guardianship under which her finances and personal life were controlled by her father, Jamie. The decision was overturned in 2021 following an emotional 'Free Britney' campaign by her loyal fans.

TROUBLES

But the singer's mental health is still the source of gossip today and she hit the headlines again last month when she pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving involving drugs or alcohol.

'The iconography of Britney is this push and pull between innocence and naughtiness,' says journalist Jenny Eliscu. 'Everyone was seeing her as a mess and out of control. And that's been the narrative that's haunted her ever since.'

Jeremy Bamber: Proof of Innocence – The Missing Phone Call

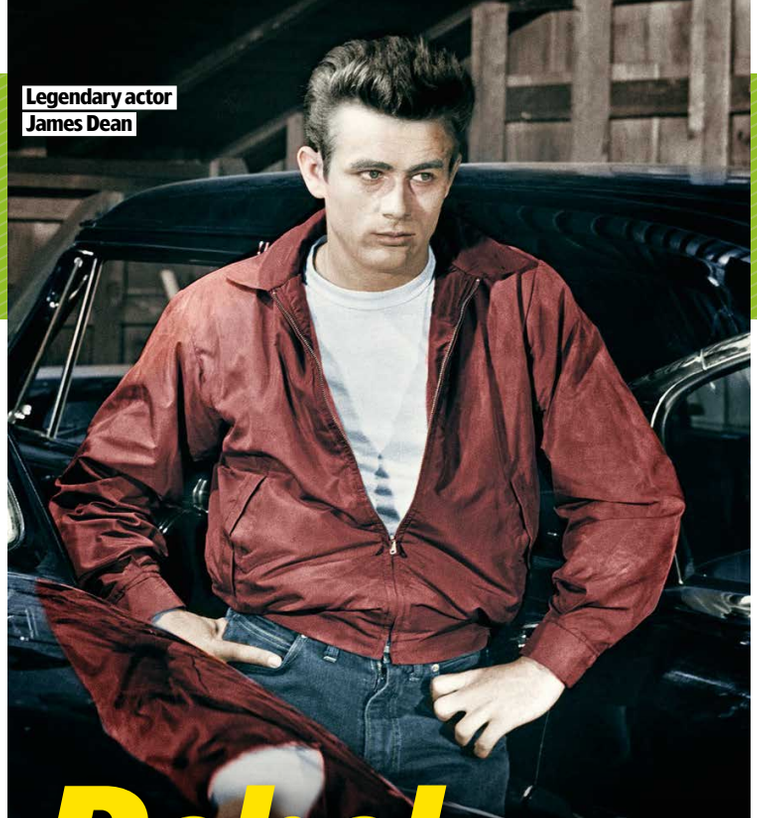
Monday, 9pm, 5

This film presents new evidence that could prove the innocence of convicted killer Jeremy Bamber (above), who is in prison for the 1985 murder of five members of his family at White House Farm in Essex. Could a potential 999 call show he did not commit the crimes?

Who Do You Think You Are?

Tuesday, 9pm, BBC1

Joe Swash (above) delves into the Italian heritage of his father, Ricky, who died when he was 11. In Italy, he discovers how an ancestor was accused of supporting local bandits, before he learns how his great-great-grandfather Giuseppe spoke alongside suffragette Sylvia Pankhurst to fight against fascism.



Legendary actor James Dean

Rebel heart

A look back at the life and legacy of James Dean

NEW FACTUAL

James Dean: The Emotional Man

Thursday, 9pm, Sky Arts

Alongside Elvis Presley and Marilyn Monroe, James Dean was one of the great American icons of the 20th century. Yet he only made three films – East of Eden, Rebel Without a Cause opposite Natalie Wood, and Giant about the epic life of a Texas cattle rancher, co-starring Elizabeth Taylor.

Just days after he finished filming Giant in 1955, Dean died in a car crash, aged 24.

Now, Sky Arts' new documentary James Dean: The Emotional Man looks back at Dean's unhappy childhood, which was shaped by his mum's early death from cancer, as well as his short-lived yet successful career and his final months on the set of Giant, where he and Taylor became close friends.

Elizabeth Taylor and James Dean

MATERNAL FIGURE

'She always listened to his stories,' says author Don Graham who wrote a 2018 book about the making of Giant. 'Dean always sought that motherly figure because he lost his own mother aged nine. And Dean's father was a cold, unfeeling person by all accounts.'

As well as giving Dean the maternal affection he craved, Taylor also gifted him a Siamese kitten he called Marcus, and she was heartbroken when Dean was killed on 30 September 1955. Dean was driving his brand-new Porsche Spyder convertible to a race.

OMINOUS WARNING

'When James got that new car, they told him, you can't drive around in that thing because you're going to kill somebody. But he never paid attention,' explains Graham. 'He died on a Friday and then on Saturday, they kept shooting the film. But Elizabeth Taylor was distraught. She eventually was hospitalised. She was the most devastated of all.'

Giant was released shortly after Dean's death and it became a box-office sensation, cementing his legacy as a Hollywood icon.

'He already had a huge reputation based on his two previous films, and then he died about two and a half weeks before Giant was over,' says Graham. 'Then he became a legend.'

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

MICHAEL

As the 'King of Pop', Jaafar Jackson is superb in the story of his meteoric rise

MUSIC BIOPIC

From Monday, buy or rent from digital stores including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★★

Don't expect any airing of dirty linen in this glossy Michael Jackson biopic, which traces the star's life from his childhood in 1960s Gary, Indiana, to the peak of his success in the mid 1980s but cuts out the toxic controversies that would later come to tarnish his reputation.

Officially endorsed by Jackson's estate, Michael buffs the King of Pop's legacy to a high shine while exploring the origins of some of his personal demons in a way designed to explain his 'eccentric' behaviour. The omissions will irk some viewers, yet fans will be more excited by what the film gets right – which is just what a sensational performer Jackson was.

Jaafar Jackson (Michael's nephew) does a terrific job of capturing Jackson's electrifying genius as a singer and dancer, while Juliano Valdo, similarly good as the very young Jackson, touchingly conveys the damage done to him by his bullying tyrant of a father.

In this role Colman Domingo is terrifying and it's easy to see how Joe Jackson's behaviour left his son with permanent emotional scars. Jackson's siblings are much less vividly portrayed (and sister Janet is left out entirely), but for those viewers less interested in a fully rounded portrait of the star than in the musical genesis of such hit songs as Beat It and Billie Jean, Michael really dazzles. 2026, 12, 127MIN

ACTION FANTASY

Mortal Kombat II

From Monday, available to buy or rent from digital stores ★★★

Director Simon McQuoid's sequel to his 2021 film does exactly what you might expect if you saw the original. It brings back familiar faces (including Jessica McNamee's Sonya, Mehcad Brooks' Jax and Ludi Lin's Liu) and adds new heroes in the shape of Princess Kitana (Adeline Rudolph) and has-been action film star Johnny Cage (Karl Urban). They all, eventually, get together to defeat the all-conquering, indestructible Shao Khan (Martyn Ford) in the tournament of the title. There's lots more going on, involving many realms, a powerful amulet and the like, but basically all that matters are the fight scenes, which are staged with verve and imagination. It's way too po-faced, but there's a welcome line in humour and the film delivers all the thrills fans need. 2024, 15, 116MIN

German-loving, an atheist and gay, Ralph Fiennes' conductor is persona non grata in the Yorkshire mill town where he lives in 1916, until conscription means the local powers that be have to draft him in as the new choirmaster to lead the Choral society's production of Elgar's The Dream of Gerontius. Alan Bennett's deft if predictable script intersperses comedy with tragedy as it looks at the impact of the Great War on the home front. Alun Armstrong and Mark Addy pad out an accomplished cast of British stalwarts, Fiennes gives a typically thoughtful and thought-provoking performance as the exacting new choirmaster but it's the soaring music itself – and the lilting vocals of Amara Okereke as the Sally Army girl who gets cast in the lead role – which make this drama sing. 2025, 15, 108MIN

Sisu: Road to Revenge

Saturday, 7.05am & 6.20pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

Rarely has the phrase 'it does what it says on the tin' been more appropriate than in this gripping, blast 'em up action sequel to savour. A superb Jorma Tommila lets his expressive face do the talking as the strong, silent hero who, in 1946 on the Finnish/Soviet border, returns to his house where his family was brutally massacred during the war. Dismantling his home plank by plank, he loads the entire house on a lorry and sets off to find a safe place to live. However, danger lies ahead in the form of scene-stealing Stephen Lang's Russian villain (the man who killed Tommila's family), dispatched by Richard Brake's KGB officer to finish the job he started. And so begins a marvellous revenge story between Tommila (whose cute little dog also makes a welcome return) and Lang. Director Jalmari Helander ensures his foot stays on the accelerator as a plentiful supply of bad-guy extras are lined up to be bludgeoned, blown up, stabbed, run over and decapitated while the protagonists wage war in planes, trains and automobiles. It's an absolute blast, with not a single wasted second in its trim running time, while the brilliantly executed set pieces just get better and better as the film progresses. 2025, 15, 89MIN

Ben Foster, wife Cobie Smulders and son William Kosovic move to the Canadian countryside, but their new house faces a turn in the road that sends cars crashing into their garden. On the first night a teen driver is killed, then it happens again and Foster becomes obsessed with saving the next potential victim, even if his fixation means losing his family. Anchored by the magnificent Foster, this is a gripping film. 2024, 15, 100MIN

Margot Robbie burns up the ice as disgraced 1990s figure skater Tonya Harding in this ferociously funny biopic. Skating a thin line between celebration and send-up, Oscar-nominated Robbie totally nails the role of the rebel who shook up her prissy sport but then became a hate figure after she was implicated in an attack on rival Nancy Kerrigan. Allison Janney is a blast, too, as her impossibly mean-spirited mother. 2017, 15, 119MIN

In uppercrust 1930s London, Paul Bettany is married to Olivia Williams. However, he is obsessed with her sister (Helena Bonham Carter). The stars are at their tortured and intense best in a plush period piece. An adaptation of the Rosamond Lehmann novel, The Echoing Grove, it lacks passion but is colourful to look at and, as the tragedy piles up, Bonham Carter's bad taste in sweaters provides welcome light relief. 2002, 15, 96MIN

Women's T20 World Cup

Is cricket coming home for England this summer?

England's all-rounder Alice Capsey

LIVE CRICKET

England v Sri Lanka

Friday, play starts 6.30pm, Sky One, Sky Mix & Sky Sports

England and Scotland sports fans won't just have football's World Cup in their diaries. There's the small matter of the Women's T20 World Cup as both nations aim for cricketing success this summer.

Hosted by England, the 10th edition of the Twenty20 tournament is the biggest yet, with 12 nations (up from 10) competing over 33 matches and seven venues: Old Trafford, Edgbaston, Rose Bowl, Bristol County Ground, Headingley, The Oval (which will stage both semi-finals) and Lord's, which will host the final on Sunday 5 July.

The action begins on Friday as England meet Sri Lanka at Edgbaston in a night match beginning at 6.30pm.

Playing on home soil, England will start among the favourites despite captain and all-rounder Nat Sciver-Brunt struggling to regain fitness after a calf injury. However, coach Charlotte Edwards' squad has plenty of quality as the team showed when defeating New Zealand in a three-match T20 series last month.

Off-spinner Charlie Dean took on captain's duties as batter Alice Capsey, seam bowler Lauren Bell and all-rounder Freya Kemp all impressed against the White Ferns, who are reigning world champions after defeating South Africa in the 2024 final in the United Arab Emirates.

New Zealand captain and all-rounder Amelia Kerr was player of the tournament in 2024 after scoring most runs and taking most wickets, but she will need to see a improvement if the Kiwis are to retain their crown.

SKIPPERS

Meanwhile, all-rounder Kathryn Bryce will lead Scotland at a World Cup for a second tournament in succession, having failed to win a match in 2024, and Gaby Lewis will captain Ireland at a World Cup for the first time after her team sealed qualification at the qualifiers in Nepal.

Elsewhere, two-time World Cup winner Sophie Molineux has been appointed captain of a new-look Australia following the retirement of Alyssa Healy earlier this year. Having fallen at the semi-final stage two years ago against South Africa, the Southern Stars will be aiming for a record-extending seventh title, with iconic fast bowler Megan Schutt set to retire from tournament cricket after the event following a glittering career.

F1: Monaco Grand Prix

Sun, race starts 2pm, Sky Sports F1 & Sky Sports Main Event

After taking pole position and winning every Grand Prix this year, Mercedes are the team to beat, with Kimi Antonelli extending his lead to 43 points at the top of the standings following a thrilling battle with teammate George Russell in Montreal two weeks ago. However, Ferrari has traditionally done well on the slow and twisty streets of Monte Carlo and Sir Lewis Hamilton will have high hopes of a fourth win on the circuit after taking second place in Canada.

From Monday, BBC2 & BBC iPlayer

After the French Open at Roland-Garros comes to an end with the weekend's finals in Paris (TNT Sports 1), attention switches to West London, where the women's contest begins two weeks of grass-court action. Twelve months ago, the women's competition returned to Queen's for the first time in 52 years, with Germany's Tatjana Maria claiming the singles title at the age of 37 – becoming the oldest woman to win a WTA 500 event. This year's prize money for the event is increasing by 35 per cent.

Butcher: Invisible Wounds

DOCUMENTARY ITV4, 10pm*

Former England captain and Ipswich Town legend Terry Butcher talks about his life and career, and opens up about the heartbreaking loss of his son Chris, who died after being diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder.

Best Medicine

DRAMA

Sky One, 8pm & 9pm

The latest British show to get a US glow-up (think The Office and Ghosts) is none other than Doc Martin. We swap Cornwall for Maine, and The Good Wife's Josh Charles steps into the grumpy shoes of Martin Clunes – who actually pops up in a guest role later in the series.

Women's World Cup Qualifiers

FOOTBALL BBC2, ITV1 & BBC iPlayer*

It's another busy night of qualifiers, with Israel v Scotland (BBC iPlayer, kick-off 6pm) and Wales v Czech Republic (BBC2 in Wales & BBC iPlayer, 6pm), before England host Ukraine (ITV1, k-o 8pm).

Bear Grylls Is Running Wild

DOCUMENTARY

Sky One, 9pm

Bear's latest travel companion (or should that be victim?) is The Miniature Wife's Elizabeth Banks. Tonight, Bear and Elizabeth head off on an icy trek through the glaciers of the Norwegian fjords.

Every Year After

DRAMA Prime Video

Based on the best-selling novels by Carley Fortune, this will-they-won't-they drama follows the fractured relationship between two childhood sweethearts who are reunited after several years.

Amandaland

COMEDY BBC1, 9pm

Season two of the BAFTA-winning comedy comes to a hilarious end tonight, with Amanda (Lucy Punch) offering to host a pre-prom party for daughter Georgie and her friends – which, thanks to a catalogue of disasters, does not exactly go to plan...

England v Costa Rica

FOOTBALL ITV1, k-o 9pm

Before England's World Cup kicks off (their first group game is against Croatia on Wed 17 June), they have one final chance to show their mettle, with players such as Jude Bellingham (right) keen to get his scoring boots on.

The Rest is Football

ENTERTAINMENT Netflix

Every day throughout the World Cup, we're treated to a visualised edition of Gary Lineker's podcast, as he and co-hosts Micah Richards and Alan Shearer provide daily insights on all the events and action from the North America stadia.

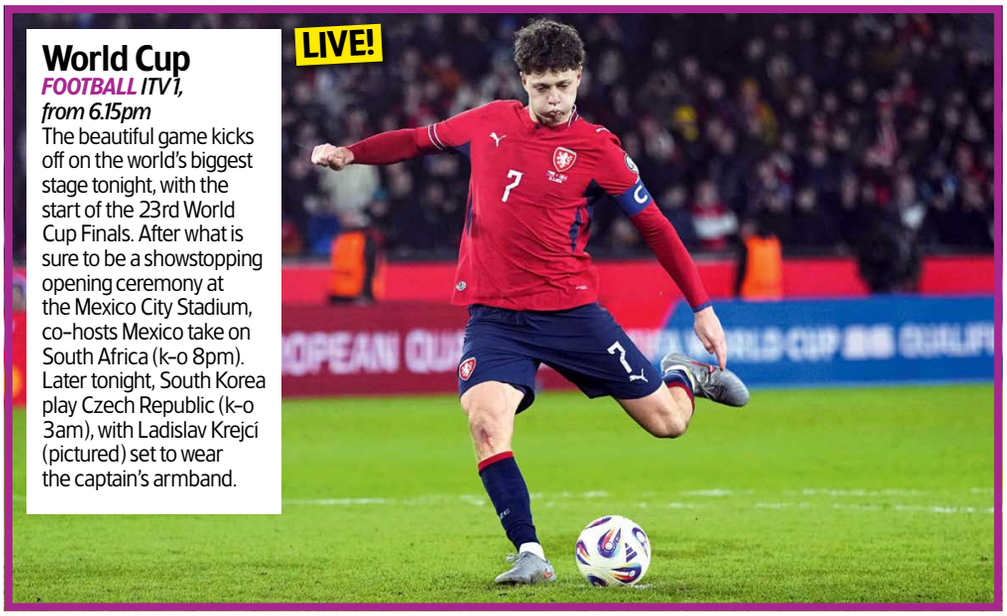
Britney: In Ten Pictures

DOCUMENTARY BBC2, 9pm

The final edition in the docuseries charts the highs and lows of singer Britney Spears, with ten iconic photographs tracking her life from chart-topping success and constant media attention, to the very public struggles with her mental health.



World Cup

FOOTBALL ITV1, from 6.15pm

The beautiful game kicks off on the world's biggest stage tonight, with the start of the 23rd World Cup Finals. After what is sure to be a showstopping opening ceremony at the Mexico City Stadium, co-hosts Mexico take on South Africa (k-o 8pm). Later tonight, South Korea play Czech Republic (k-o 3am), with Ladislav Krejcí (pictured) set to wear the captain's armband.

Sweet Magnolias

DRAMA Netflix

As the smalltown romantic drama returns for a fifth season, the three best friends start preparations for Helen's wedding by visiting bridal boutiques on New York's Fifth Avenue – but some shock news puts the big day at risk.

James Dean: The Emotional Man

DOCUMENTARY

Sky Arts, 9pm

It's amazing how a young man who lost his life in a car crash at the age of just 24 and starred in only three films, is one of America's greatest icons. This documentary looks at the life and legacy of the star.

7.50 LIVE Football: World Cup Mexico v South Africa: Mark Pougatch presents coverage of the Group A match at Mexico City Stadium, which serves as the opening game of the tournament. This is the fifth overall meeting between these nations, with the most recent also being the opening contest of the 2010 World Cup in South Africa, which ended in a 1-1 draw. That was the last time Bafana Bafana competed in a World Cup and, as with their two other tournament appearances in 1998 and 2002, they failed to progress beyond the group stage. Meanwhile, El Tricolor finished second in the group to progress to the last-16, where they were beaten 3-1 by Argentina. With analysis from Roy Keane, Gary Neville and Ian Wright, and commentary by Jon Champion and Ally McCoist. Kick-off is at 8.00. See World Cup Guide, pages 17-45. (S)

The Alien Autopsy Scandal

DOCUMENTARY

Sky Documentaries, 9pm

When footage emerged in the 1990s claiming to reveal evidence of extra-terrestrial life – and a US government cover-up – was it genuine, or an elaborate hoax? This series looks at the bizarre story.

BBC1 — 7.00 LIVE Football: World Cup Canada v Bosnia and Herzegovina: Gabby Logan presents coverage of the Group B match at Toronto Stadium. The co-hosts are competing at just their third World Cup finals, with previous appearances coming in 1986 and 2022. While expectations may be low, Jesse Marsch's men will hope to take full advantage of playing on home soil and produce the type of performances they did in the 2025 Gold Cup, when they progressed to the quarter-finals, before being eliminated by Guatemala on penalties. Bosnia and Herzegovina qualified for this tournament after coming through the qualification play-off round just three months ago, condemning Italy to a third consecutive absence at this event. Kick-off is at 8.00. See World Cup Guide, pages 17-45. (S)

Rafe Spall plays the PM

Number 10

Rafe Spall, Katherine Kelly and Jenna Coleman star in a political comedy drama

C4's upcoming comedy drama Number 10 will take a peek behind closed doors at Downing Street to explore the ups and downs of life at the heart of a fictional British government.

Penned by Steven Moffat, the six-part series sees Rafe Spall play the Prime Minister – the leader of an undisclosed political party – who tackles cats, conspiracy theorists and the myriad of challenges involved in running the country, while his staff jostle for position and battle to keep chaos at bay.

Katherine Kelly portrays the chief of staff at Number 10 and Jenna Coleman is her deputy, while the cast also includes Akshay Khanna, Laura Haddock, Jing Lusi, Joe Wilkinson, Richard Rankin, Patrick Baladi, Alex Macqueen and Gary Lamont.

'Number 10 is a sensational piece of writing, equal to its peerless author, Steven Moffat,' says Spall. 'I'm delighted to be playing the Prime Minister in a funny, real and thrilling piece of TV.'

'I've been wanting to write about the mad house that runs the madhouse for years, and I've never had so much fun doing the research,' adds Moffat. 'Other nations are ruled from mighty palaces. Britain is run from a little brick street with a big black door. If you want to do a workplace comedy drama, this is the boss of them all.'

Coleman is second in command

Kelly as the chief of staff

WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Lee Mack

In a BBC1 documentary, Twenty Years of Not Going Out, the comedian will mark his sitcom's milestone by looking back at its history and revealing how an episode from the forthcoming new series is made.

Jamie-Lee O'Donnell

The actor will star in BBC1's six-part comedy Hopley Hall, which follows a group of staff and volunteers looking after a rundown stately home in Northern Ireland, where only the elderly Lady Hopley now resides.

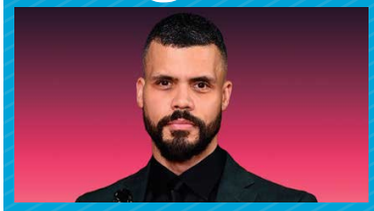
Naomie Harris

BBC1's six-part legal drama Reputation sees the actor play a lawyer in a high-profile case involving a pop megastar (Christina Hendricks) whose song accuses her ex (Kyle Soller) of abuse, but a bitter libel wrangle ensues.

Coming Back

Filming is under way on a sixth series of ITV1's Morecambe-set crime drama The Bay, as family liaison officer DS Jenn Townsend (Marsha Thomason) deals with the murder of a child in foster care.

Gangland dramas to look forward to



Fightland

Sky's drama follows boxer Maduka 'Duke' Kilroy (Howard Charles), who goes after the crime family he blames for a fall from grace.

The Westies

In MGM+'s series set in 1980s New York and starring JK Simmons, a ruthless Irish gang comes to the attention of the authorities.

MobLand

Series 2 of Paramount+'s saga will see gangland fixer Harry Da Souza (Tom Hardy) face fresh challenges in his murky world.
